STEILER GUILTY OF ASSAULT AND IS FINED $25

North Front Street Episode Grew Out Of An Automobile Deal With Conrad Robinson—Steiler's Conviction Reported to Government as He is Out on Parole From Internment Camp.

Arthur Steiler, who is out on parole from a federal internment camp, where he was confined during the world war, was found guilty, after a trial in police court before Judge Schirick this morning, of assault in the third degree, and fined $25. The conviction will also be reported to the federal government as the parole provides that not only must Steiler report weekly to Chief of Police J. Allan Wood at police headquarters, but also if guilty of any violation of the country's laws he is liable to be deported and sent back to Germany.

An Auto Deal.

From the evidence as brought out in police court it developed that the assault committed on Conrad Robinson, the North Front street jeweler, who said he was of Swiss-Jewish descent, grew out of an automobile deal between Steiler and Robinson.

Steiler sold Robinson an auto for $90, and according to Steiler's side of it he had been paid $70, and Robinson still owed him $10 on the deal.

Robinson's Story.

Robinson's story of the assault was to the effect that Steiler owed him a bill and Friday, December 5, about noon, as Steiler was passing Robinson's store the latter called him in the store.

Just what happened in the store is known only to Robinson and Steiler, as no else saw the argument.

From Robinson's account he asked Steiler about the bill, and in the wordy argument Robinson said that he told Steiler he was dishonest, and as he said it Steiler said: "What?" and then blew me over the counter.

"He what?" asked Attorney Chris J. Flanagan, who represented Robinson.

Robinson explained that Steiler punched him in the nose, and then left the store and slammed the door behind him.

Robinson said he followed Steiler out and was looking for a policeman to have Steiler arrested, when he claimed Steiler struck him three times.

He exhibited his nose to the court and stated that was where Steiler had hit him twice.

"Did you call Steiler a German spy?" asked Attorney Robert Howard, who appeared for Steiler, on his cross-examination of the witness.

"No Germany was mixed in at all," asserted Robinson earnestly.

Steiler's Side of Story.

Steiler, in his own behalf, said that he was passing Robinson's store when the latter called him in. At the time Steiler was on his way to the store of Albert Kreisig, further on down North Front street, as he and Kreisig had an appointment to go to a photographer and have a photo taken of Kreisig's auto truck.

Steiler said he entered Robinson's store and Robinson asked him "Can you give me some money?"

"I said what for," said Steiler.

"You promised to take the car back," explained Robinson.

"You bought the car legally," retorted Steiler, "and you owe me $10 on it. You keep the car, and I will keep the $70 and you can pay me the $10 later."

Steiler said that he did not strike Robinson while in the store, but at the close of the conversation, in which he said Robinson called him a skunk, thief, crook, German spy, and a few other choice titles, he, Steiler, left the store.

When Steiler Hit Him.

Steiler said that he left Robinson's store and was on his way to his own place to get his overcoat when he heard some one behind him.

He turned and saw Robinson "flushed in the face like a lobster," and that Robinson had his hands up, and he, Steiler, knocked them to one side, and hit Robinson with the flat of his hand. He said that before he used the flat of his hand on Robinson's face the latter applied a few more names to him.

Interned for Self Protection.

"Were you a German spy?" was the question flung at Steiler by Attorney Flanagan as he began his cross-examination.

"No, sir," replied Steiler.

"You were interned were you not?" asked Mr. Flanagan.

"I was interned for my own protection," enlightened Steiler.

Who wanted to protect you?" asked Mr. Flanagan.

"The American government," replied Steiler.

"Had any one molested you before you were interned?" queried Mr. Flanagan.

"Yes sir," replied Steiler.

"For what reason?" queried Mr. Flanagan.

"I don't know," was the reply of Steiler.

In reply to questions by Attorney Flanagan, Steiler said that he was out on parole from the internment camp and had to report once a week to the chief of police.

What Kreisig Saw.

Albert Kreisig, who has a furniture store on North Front street, was the next witness called by Attorney Howard. Kreisig confirmed the statement made by Steiler that he and Steiler had made arrange-

WEST SUFFERS IN COLD WAVE

Chicago to Rockies in Grip of Record Low Temperatures and Storms—Shortage of Coal Causes Much Misery.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—Temperatures ranging from zero to 34 degrees below that mark are prevalent throughout the Mississippi valley and Rocky Mountain states today. The extreme cold is accompanied in some sections by storms and in many areas deep snow lies upon the ground.

Throughout all of the territory from Chicago west to the Rocky Mountains, the coldest weather of the season prevails and in many points the thermometer has recorded temperatures the lowest in many years. Even on the Pacific coast and in the southern states, according to reports reaching here, new records for cold have been established in many places.

34 Below in Wyoming.

The lowest temperature listed in government reports here today was at Lander, Wyoming, where the mercury dropped to 34 degrees below zero. Havre, Montana, showed 30 degrees below; Cheyenne, 28; Bismarck, N. D., 22, and temperatures ranging from 5 below to 20 below were reported from many points in Minnesota, Iowa, Colorado, South Dakota, Washington and other western states.

Intense suffering, most of it due to the shortage of fuel, has followed in the wake of the cold wave. Many towns in Kansas are reported entirely out of fuel and a serious coal situation is expected in Montana. The pinch of the coal shortage also is being felt with increasing vigor today in Illinois.

Charity Cares for Thousands.

In Chicago, with the temperature standing at five degrees below zero today, charitable institutions found themselves taxed to the utmost to care for requests that came in from all sources. More than six thousand families in Chicago, it is estimated, have appealed for help from municipal authorities.

Although the cold wave, it is predicted, will be of several days' duration, warmer weather is forecasted for tomorrow.

CLAIM SOLUTION OF DANSEY CASE

Theory is That Charles S. White, Now in Jail, Threw Stone at Little Billy's Dog But Hit Child and Killed Him.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Hammonton, N. J., Dec. 10.—The mystery of how three year old "Billy" Dansey, who disappeared on October 8, and whose skeleton was found six weeks later, met his death, is solved, it is claimed by detectives today.

The baby was not murdered by a degenerate, as first reported, but was killed by a stone flung at his pet dog, according to the authorities. The theory is that the missile missed the dog and struck the boy in the stomach, causing his death.

When last seen Billy was in the dahlia fields owned by Charles S. White, who is now in jail at May's Landing.

Edward M. White, father of the man under arrest, is convinced that his son will be able to prove his innocence.

Prosecuting Attorney Edmund C. Gaskill admitted today that a third warrant had been issued, but had not been served. This warrant is understood to be for a woman.

One of the chief clues which led to the arrest of White and his housekeeper, Mrs. Edith Jones, who is also held, is said to have been furnished by letters Mrs. Jones is alleged to have written.

OUT OF WORK.

Shut Down of Alsen Plant Causes Unemployment.

Nearly two hundred men have been thrown out of employment temporarily by the enforced shut-down of the plant of the Alsen Cement Company, at Alsen, near Saugerties, because of the lack of coal. Kingston men employed by the Newburgh Shipbuilding Company, stated last night that 200 men would be laid off temporarily on the shipyard because the scarcity of bituminous coal.

Fire Horses Sold.

This morning, Phil and Sam, the two fine horses that drew the hook and ladder truck of the Central Fire Station, were delivered. They were bought Tuesday afternoon by Simon Van Wagenen, the state road contractor, for a Mr. Frost of St. Remy, and will be used in state construction work.

Strong Known In Catskill.

Mason B. Strong, the Passaic architect, who in a fit of insanity killed his wife, his oldest daughter, a son and himself was well known in Catskill. Mr. Strong was architect of the dock improvement carried out at Catskill Point some five years ago by the Day Line.

Joseph A. McKelle & Company have been awarded the contract for the installation of electrical equipment in the new Manhattan Shirt factory on Hoffman street.

TAXI ORDINANCE OVER TO DEC. 30

At Which Time It Will Come Up For Passage—Divides City Into Zones and Fixes Fare to Be Charged—Some Objections Made by Taxi Owners.

Tuesday night the laws and rules committee of the common council reported a proposed ordinance regulating taxis and taxi drivers in Kingston which was read, and after a public hearing it was laid over until an adjourned meeting to be held Tuesday evening, December 30, at which time the ordinance will come up for final action and passage.

President Watts presided at the session with Aldermen Preston, Roosa, Schilp, Kelly, Mann, Kirchner, Kullman, Van Vakenburgh, Higgins, Connelly, Hull and Purvis present. The only absentee was Alderman Schick.

Ordinance in Brief.

The proposed taxi ordinance, in brief, as read, was follows:

The term cab as used in the ordinance shall be construed to mean all mechanically propelled or horse drawn vehicles operated for hire in the transportation of passengers for which patronage is solicited upon the streets of the city.

No cab shall be operated upon the streets except under a license. Application for same must be made by the owner. No license shall be issued except to a corporation unless such owner shall be a citizen of the United States and upwards of 21 years of age. Such license shall expire on January 1, following the issuance therof, and shall be duly numbered and state the name of the person or corporation to whom granted, and shall be at all times kept in a conspicuous place in the cab. A fee of $2 shall be paid for the license.

No person shall operate a cab without a personal license to be issued upon the production of satisfactory proof of the fitness of the applicant, and upon the payment of a $2 fee. The operator must wear on the breast of his outside coat a badge to be furnished him with his license which shall contain the words, "Licensed Cabman" and the number of his license.

All applications for license shall be made to the chief of police and issued by him and a record kept.

Chief May Revoke License.

The chief of police may at any time in his discretion revoke any license for reasonable cause, and may suspend same during an investigation. Conviction of a violation of any ordinance or law regulating vehicles shall be considered sufficient cause.

The chief of police, with the approval of the mayor, shall designate from time to time such street cabstands as may be proper, and may limit number of cabs to remain at any one stand at any one time.

Must be Respectful and Courteous.

No person other than the only duly licensed shall solicit patronage for his cab, and then only in a respectful and courteous manner, and when remaining in or upon his vehicle or within five feet therefrom.

All fares collectible may be demanded in advance. No licensed person while waiting for employment shall refuse any reasonable demand for conveyance of passengers when tendered compensation fixed by this ordinance, nor demand any greater fare than that so fixed.

75 Cent Fare the Limit.

The proposed ordinance fixes the amount of fare to be charged. The highest charge allowed is 75 cents from uptown to Kingston Point for one or two persons with an additional 25 cents for each additional person. The city is divided into zones and conveyance from one zone to an adjoining zone shall be charged for at the rate of 50 cents for one or two persons, and 25 cents for each additional person.

City in Five Zones.

The city has been divided into five zones. The first zones takes in Ponckhockie and the Kingston Point section.

The second zone takes in North Rondout and the downtown business section as far as Hudson street.

The third zone includes the central section of the city and the uptown business section with Wall street dividing the third and fourth zones.

The fourth zones takes in Hasbrouckville.

The fifth zone takes in Wilbur.

The amount of fares fixed by the ordinance shall apply only for continuous transportation, and any stops made for convenience of passenger may be charged at a rate not to exceed $1 an hour.

The rates shall include without additional charge personal baggage not exceeding 50 pounds in weight.

Between the hours of 1 a. m. and 6 a. m. 50 per cent additional to the rates may be charged.

Ten Broeck Explains Position.

William Ten Broeck, the T-B taxi man, was extended the privilege of the floor and wanted to know what the rate to Kingston Point from the upper part of the city would be according to the proposed ordinance.

He was informed that the highest fare for one or two persons was 75 cents, with 25 cents for each additional person.

Mr. TenBroeck stated that the taxi men were now getting $1. It was a long haul and the taxi men would ask the council to reconsider that pro-

NO WHISKEY HERE FOR PNEUMONIA

Doctor Complains He is Unable to Have Prescription Honored—Health Board Meets With Plumbing Board.

It developed at the meeting of the board of health Tuesday night that there is no whiskey to be had in Kingston for medicinal purposes. Although all druggists are privileged to carry it, yet only one store in the city has a license and that store has none of the spiritus frumenti in stock, and has not had any for some time. Dr. Frank Johnston, health officer, stated that a physician had reported to him that he needed whiskey for a pneumonia patient, but could not have a prescription honored. This doctor asked that the health board take some steps to obtain the necessary stimulant, pointing to the seriousness of the dearth of the spirits in the event of an epidemic of pneumonia or "flu." No action, however, was taken by the board, it being the general opinion that the matter was one for the doctors to solve. Commissioner Huhne stated that in the use of whiskey in pneumonia cases many doctors differed, some being of the opinion that it was quite necessary while others did not. The health officer stated that he believed that the majority of doctors agreed that whiskey was quite essential in treating pneumonia patients.

Joint Session.

The health board first met in a joint session with the plumbing board. Those present were Commissioners Huhne, Michael, Norwood and Mayor Canfield, of the health board, and Charles Gregory, Thomas Kelly, City Engineer Codwise and Plumbing Inspector Fred Dressel. The joint session was held to take action on the new plumbing code, which was drafted in order to comply with changes in the state law and city ordinances. Mr. Gregory reported that the plumbing board had approved the code and moved its adoption. This was seconded by Commissioner Huhne and carried.

Report Chickenpox.

The health board then met in regular session. Health Officer Johnston called attention to the fact that there were a number of cases of chickenpox in the city and that a number were not being reported to the health officer. He said that the cases that were not being reported were those having no doctor. The health officer stated that unless all cases of chickenpox were reported the city might suffer another outbreak of smallpox. Parents as well as doctors must report cases of chickenpox to the health officer, he said. Where no doctors are attending cases of chickenpox, investigations are made by the health officer.

Commissioner Norwood suggested that copies of a bulletin issued by the State Department giving precautionary measures in dealing with chicken pox and other contagious disease, be distributed to houses where there are cases of chicken pox. The doctor also advocated discontinuing the use of formaldehyde candles in fumigating. The doctor pointed out that the candles are used, but no other measures are taken to free rooms from germs. He suggested that instead of the health board issuing candies, they see that rooms are washed with soap and water, aired thoroughly and disinfected. A motion to this effect was passed by the board.

Commissioner Michael called the board's attention to the fact that cases of measles were not being placarded on the outside of the houses, but on the door of the sick room. She offered a resolution to the effect that hereafter placards for all diseases under quarantine be placed on the outside of houses.

Beginning next month the board will issue circulars each month giving reports on the milk scores and other information pertaining to the health of the city.

Mrs. Michael called attention to the fact that the rule requiring all food-stuffs sold in stores to be covered was being violated. In one establishment pies and cakes were displayed on counters, while in another pails of candy, uncovered, were set on the floor. Inspections will be made by the sanitary inspector.

A tentative budget calling for $14,500 was ordered certified to the mayor. This is $1,000 more than was needed last year.

Officers' reports were read as follows:

Kingston, N. Y., Dec. 1, 1919.

Report of Frederick Sahloff, secretary and registrar of vital statistics of the city of Kingston, N. Y., for the month of November, 1919:

Births reported, 31; deaths reported, 34; 3 being non-resident. Resident death rate per M. 14.2; non-resident death rate per M. 1.3. Corresponding month last year: Births reported, 22; deaths reported, 62; showing an increase of 1 in births and a decrease of 28 in deaths.

STATE ENGINEER TELLS OF CANAL TERMINAL WORK

Land Practically Secured at Yonkers, Newburgh and Poughkeepsie—State Has Not Exercised Option Here—Terminal Plans Ready and Work Can Start as Soon as Appropriation is Made.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Dec. 10.—(Special.)—State Engineer Frank M. Williams in telling of the need for funds to fully complete and equip the barge canal terminals also pointed out what the department he heads has done relative to obtaining sites for the proposed terminals on the Hudson river.

Mr. Williams says that he has completed the preparation of the proposed layouts for the terminals at Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, Yonkers and Kingston and that he is now preparing an estimate of the cost for their construction. This estimate will be submitted to the legislature immediately after it convenes. Mr. Williams says:

"The new legislature should squarely face the financial situation as it relates to the barge canal terminals. The terminal act of 1911 laid down specific directions as to the ultimate development of the sites. These directions were based on an estimate of cost made in 1910 and the law has entailed construction which—because of the remarkable conditions in the labor and material markets since 1917—cannot be completed within the limits of the appropriations provided. Furthermore, the operation of chapter 585 of the laws of 1918, which provided for the cancellation of contracts and their completion under war conditions, has further affected the funds available. At several points, notably Rochester and Troy, the appropriations provided have been found to be entirely inadequate to permit a full development of the sites while with funds available, expended or obligated it is impossible to secure at some points anything like a satisfactory result. Likewise, in New York city so many sites, additional to those named in the terminal act, have been acquired for terminals, that it is doubtful if the appropriation for the terminals at the port of New York, after being drawn upon to pay for the property taken, would be available to pay for more than a partially complete equipment of freight handling machinery and devices.

"Under Chapter 555 of the Laws of 1918, the legislature made an appropriation for the purchase of canal terminal sites at Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, Kingston and Yonkers and for the preparation of plans for terminal construction in these cities. The State Engineer's Department has finished its preliminary surveys of all these sites as well as the proposed layout of the terminals while estimates as to the cost of their construction are being prepared.

"At Yonkers and Poughkeepsie the appropriation of the land required has already been made and agreements covering the purchase of the property have been entered into between the owners of the property and the state.

"At Newburgh the state and the owner of the property are about to enter into an agreement, the result of which will be that the state will undoubtedly acquire title to the land in the near future. However, in connection with this particular terminal site, it is necessary that the state should obtain, from the city authorities, a deed to the lower end of Washington street. Negotiations tending to bring this about are pending and undoubtedly a special election to authorize the city officials to make the transfer will be held in the city of Newburgh within a short time.

"Options for the purchase of the land required at Kingston have been filed with the state which can exercise these options within a reasonable period of time, provided the legislature makes an appropriation to cover the terminals construction.

"The terminals are vital to the success of the Barge Canal and every effort has been made and is being made to so construct them that, when completed and equipped, they will efficiently and economically serve the ends of traffic and the requirements of shippers. The Hudson river is, to all intents and purposes, a part of the Barge Canal System and, in order to place its cities in closer touch with the waterway and to save both the state and the cities the benefits desired, an appropriation to develop the sites should be made. When this is done the state will be ready to begin its work without delay."

TROLLEY CO. VALUE

Is $786,475 Under Re-Classification of Accounts to P. S. C.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Dec. 10.—G. R. TenBroeck, superintendent of the Kingston Consolidated Railroad Company, and H. A. Clarke of New York, consulting engineer and accountant, yesterday appeared before Chairman Charles B. Hill of the Public Service Commission, Second District, and explained a proposed reclassification of the company's accounts to conform to the requirements of the commission. The company, under an appraisal made, claims a value of $786,475 in its property used in the public service. Prices, it was stated, were taken largely from vouchers back to 1898 while some labor items were estimated. An order will be made by the commission at an early date.

FUSS PRESIDENT OF MANNERCHOR

The Rondout Social Mannerchor has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Peter Fuss; vice-president, Adam Guess; secretary, Conrad Trunk; financial secretary, Fred Sudheimer; treasurer, Jacob Merkle; trustee, Fred Scholl; musical director, Prof. Jacob Stumpf.

The Mannerchor is planning to hold a New Year's Eve reception and celebration in the rooms on the Strand. The annual masquerade ball will be held, as usual, the last Monday in January. The newly elected officers are arranging a place in which to hold the ball.

BALLOTS FOR C. OF C. PRIMARY

Sent Out Today—Polls Close Dec. 19—Directors To Be Elected To Succeed Leighton, Kearney and Gorman Who Are Ineligible Under New By-laws.

The annual election of Chamber of Commerce directors for which primary nomination ballots were sent to the members of the Chamber of Commerce today has exceptional interest this year on account of the amendment to the by-laws which was adopted at the last annual meeting and which provides that the retiring directors are ineligible for re-election.

This means that three new men must be elected to the board at this time in place of Robert E. Leighton, John B. Kearney and Vincent A. Gorman whose terms expire.

The ballots sent out today are for the primary election in which six candidates are to be chosen.

The election will follow the primary and three of the six candidates named at the primamry will then be elected to the board of directors.

The system of nomination of directors is exceedingly democratic. Each member of the Chamber of Commerce is furnished with a complete membership list. From this list he selects three names and writes them on the primary election ballot.

When the votes are counted the six members who receive the largest vote in the primary are certified by the tellers as candidates in the election.

The primary ballots are returnable at any time between today and Friday, December 19, at 8 p. m., when the polls of the primary election are closed and the votes are counted.

Ballots may be mailed to the Chamber of Commerce rooms or may be deposited in person in the official ballot box at the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

Owing to the amendment which makes necessary the choice of three new members to the board of directors here and owing to the greatly increased membership of the Chamber of Commerce and the number and importance of the activities which it has carried out during the present year a heavy vote is expected.

The three retiring directors have all held positions of authority and influence during their service on the board of directors.

John B. Kearney and Robert E. Leighton are former presidents of the Chamber of Commerce and of the board of trade, out of which the present Chamber developed.

Vincent A. Gorman is at present vice president of the Chamber of Commerce.

The board of directors loses valuable services in their retirement.

The advantage of the new plan according to which retiring directors are ineligible for re-election, is that new men are each year added to the board and the Chamber of Commerce is thereby strengthened by the increased number of members who from time to time undertake the most responsible positions within its organization.

Under the present plan of organization the chairmen of important committees are selected from outside the membership of the Board of Directors. Thus as new men go each year into the Board of Directors, retiring directors continue to hold responsible positions of chairmen of important committees.

Members are urged to vote early so that there may be no danger of forgetting the date on which the polls close Friday, December 19, at 8 p. m.

Pomona Grange Meeting.

The winter meeting of Ulster County Pomona Grange will be held at Ulster Park on Friday, December 12th, opening at eleven o'clock a. m. Everyone attending will please bring their lunch. Coffee will be furnished the local Grange. Election of officers and delegates to the State Grange.

Brickyard Workers Strike.

Jessie Nickason Secures Divorce.

A final decree of divorce has been granted plaintiff in the action brought by Jessie Nickason against George Nickason, by Justice G. D. B. Hasbrouck at a special term of the supreme court held at the court house in this city December 6, Chas. E. Murray is attorney for plaintiff.

MINERS HEADS STILL DISCUSS

Government's Offer As Basis of Strike Settlement—Lewis Optimistic As They Reconvene at 1:30 o'clock.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 10.—The conference of officials of the United Mine Workers of America in session here to consider the government's offer of a 14 percent wage increase as a basis for settling the coal miners strike adjourned at 12:10 p. m., without reaching an agreement.

They will meet again at 1:30 this afternoon.

Acting President John L. Lewis, of the miners' organization, on leaving the conference room in the Odd Fellows Building said:

"We have the question under consideration and I think we will be able to reach an agreement today."

KNOCKED FROM TRAIN.

William Hawkins Hurt In U. & D. Tunnel.

William Hawkins, 12 years old, son of Albert Hawkins of Maple street, had a narrow escape from death Tuesday evening about 9½ o'clock, and is in the Benedictine Sanitarium suffering from a slight concussion of the brain, severe scalp wounds and lacerations about the body and contusions of the back. He will recover.

The boy was stealing a ride on an Ulster & Delaware freight train. As the train was passing through the tunnel under the street at Hasbrouck and Delaware avenues, he evidently leaned out from the car ladder to which he clung and was swept from the car. That he was not killed is a miracle.

He was picked up, and hurried to the office of Dr. John F. Larkin on Stuyvesant street, and later taken to the sanitarium. This afternoon his condition was reported as much improved.

ODDS AND ENDS.

The regular meeting of the official board of the St. James M. E. Church will be held on Thursday evening after the usual prayer meeting.

On account of the storm yesterday the Parent-Teachers' meeting of School No. 6 was postponed and will be held on Thursday, December 11, at 3:30 o'clock at the school rooms.

At the Thursday evening meeting at the Elmendorf Street Church, Dr. Cady will report the men's conference held at Utica this week. A large attendance at the meeting is urged, especially of the men.

ABOUT THE FOLKS.

William P. Glass left Tuesday for Chicago and St. Louis on a business trip.

Frank F. Van of Halcott Center, Greene county, is visiting for a short time with his relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kaufman, on Downs street.

Miss Helen V. Boyd, stenographer and filing clerk with the National Life Insurance Co., New York city, is spending a few days at her home on Orchard street. Miss Boyd is a graduate of the Moran Business School, Burgevin Building.

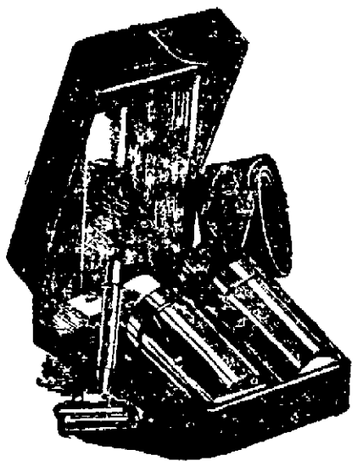
Metal Case Outfit

Nickel-plated, gun metal, or gold-plated case, plain or embossed, velvet lined; silver or gold—plated AutoStrop Razor; twelve blades and selected leather strop. Five and Six Dollars.



Combination Set

Gold-plated AutoStrop Razor; special shaving brush and shaving soap in gold-plated tubes; removable beveled plate mirror, twelve blades and selected leather strop. In black leather case, Ten Dollars.

ASK any man to tell you how soon after the first shave his razor blade begins to "pull"—how unsatisfactory that last shave is, the shave that makes him throw the blade away.

Then you'll know why every man will be glad to get an AutoStrop Razor for Christmas.

Every morning of the week the AutoStrop Razor provides a fresh, keen edge—gives a clean, quick, comfortable shave.

500 clean, comfortable shaves guaranteed from every dozen blades

Built right into the frame of the AutoStrop Razor is a unique stropping device, simple and efficient—quick and easy to use. It smooths the tiny teeth of the blade back into alignment, and renews the fine, smooth edge before every shave.

It isn't necessary to take the razor apart to strop the blade. The strop is simply slipped through the razor head. The AutoStrop Razor sharpens, shaves, and cleans without removing a single part.

Perfect shaving comfort for every man—every day—that's what these remarkable features of the AutoStrop Razor mean. Five hundred satisfying shaves are guaranteed from every dozen blades. This razor is a Christmas gift a man enjoys all the year 'round.

Make your Christmas gift fill a man's real need. Give him an AutoStrop Razor. Ask your dealer today to show you the many different styles of AutoStrop Razor outfits—from the folding Pocket Kit to the complete Tourist Set.

The standard set, shown above, consists of a silver-plated, self-stropping razor, twelve blades, and selected leather strop—all in a neat, compact, black leather case, velvet lined. Five Dollars.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Dec. 10.—The stock market opened quiet and easy today. Traders were awaiting definite word from Indianapolis as to what action the miners will take. Steel Common ranged between 103¾ and 103⅝. Baldwin yielded ½ to 105½; Crucible ¾ to 207; General Motors, 2½ to 326; Studebaker 1⅛ to 106½; Allis Chalmers ¼ to 146 and Pierce Arrow ⅜ to 75½. The rails were under pressure, Southern Pacific yielding 1 point to 102½; Union Pacific ¾ to 123½, and fractional declines were recorded in Baltimore and Ohio, Canadian Pacific and Reading. Mexican Petroleum dropped 1 point to 196½; Trans Oil ¾ to 42¼; Pan-American Petroleum ¾ to 105½ and Royal Dutch ¾ to 100½. The marine shares yielded fractionally. United Retail Stores dropped one point to 89, and U. S. Rubber 1 point to 123½.

A stronger tone developed at the noon session. Steel Common rose to 103 5-7; Republic Steel ¼ to 105; United Retail Stores 3 points to 91½ Southern Pacific 1 point to 103½; Pan-American Petroleum to 107¼ and Pierce Arrow 2 points to 77¾ Mexican Petroleum fell 3 points to 196½ and Studebaker to 106¾.

The market closed steady; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds weak.

Getting Acquainted With America.

The United States has been getting the greatest advertising during the last two years that any nation has ever received, and the results of this should be reaped in foreign trade, just as any merchant obtained custom from an advertising campaign.

Since the beginning of the war there has been a steady stream of foreign missions on tour in the United States, headed by men of prominence in their respective countries. They have visited the shipyards, the steel mills, the camps and the industrial cities, and they have seen the miles of fertile farm lands and gained a new conception of the vastness of America and its ability to put over big things on a big scale. A convention of the League of Nations in Washington will add still more to this world knowledge of America's resources. The chief thing now to be sought is the holding of the advantage gained.—Forbes Magazine.

Big Brother Movement.

The "Big Brother" movement was started in 1904, by Ernest K. Coulter, in New York city. Since that time the work has been taken up in over 100 cities. There is a staff of paid workers, supplemented by volunteers—lawyers, physicians, merchants, etc. The object is to obtain the cause of the boy's troubles—whether it be truancy, stealing, lying, running away from home, etc. Then with the co-operation of parents, through the medium of the "Big Brothers," an effort is made to build up within the boy a sense of honor and good citizenship. The headquarters are at 200 Fifth avenue, New York city.

Discharging a Cook.

One result of the bolshevist law that persons who are employed cannot be removed arbitrarily is instanced by the Bulletin Russe, published by the League for the Regeneration of Russia at Lausanne, Switzerland. It declares that at Smolensk a bachelor had a cook whom he wished to discharge. She refused to leave her place and he was unable to turn her out. On the advice of a bolshevist friend the bachelor married his cook and immediately afterward divorced her. As a divorced woman she was legally compelled to leave the premises.

WILD LIFE OF PALESTINE

All Kinds of Birds, European and Tropical, Found There, and Fishes in Great Abundance.

Swarms of European birds visit Palestine in winter and many breed there. The cranes, as in Dante's fine line, still pass the winter "trailing their long-drawn line drawn across the sky," and in the spring the voice of the turtle dove is heard in the land.

The Holy Land is appropriately a stronghold of the pigeon family; turtle doves are found, the wood pigeon comes in myriads in winter, and the common pigeon, the true dove of Scripture, is still abundant, both wild and tame, throughout the country.

As a contrast of the "every raven after his kind," the crow tribe of several species is in abundance, and birds of prey, from the great giffon vulture, the "eagle" of Scripture, to the sparrow hawk, are a feature of the country.

In the deep, tropical Jordan valley we find a sort of aviary of real tropical birds, which found there a refuge from the last glacial epoch—the lovely little sun bird, or "Jericho humming bird," the land-feeding, white-breasted kingfisher and a species of the gregarious thrush.

On the coast is found the great Indian fishing owl, and among the rocks of Marsaba the monks have half-tamed the orange-winged blackbird, which is really a starling of African type, as much out of his latitude as the hyrax. One of the birds peculiar to Palestine, the pretty little pigmy Moabite sparrow, which lives in reed beds, is one of the rarest birds in the world.

Reptiles abound, and even the Nile crocodile, the leviathan of the Bible, lingered long enough to give Tristram the chance of obtaining a specimen nearly twelve feet long, while in addition to the African cobra, we find the grass snake among the harmless species, and the wicked little horned viper lies in wait, as in olden times, to bite the heels of the horses.

As for the fish, they are as abundant and varied as ever, and it is interesting to note that the Sea of Galilee is still packed with them, and that the most common kinds are of an African family, an interesting illustration of the scientific interest which unites with the religious to make Palestine among the most interesting of all countries.

Custer's Island.

The town of Hays, Kan., has a normal school and a history. The two naturally come to mind together, for the normal school is built near the site of the historical events which made Hays famous, and the students of the school have taken it upon themselves to restore the spot to something of its old-time appearance.

Hays was once Fort Hays, and General Custer, the famous Indian fighter, was stationed there during the building of the first transcontinental railroad. His wife accompanied him and shared all the hardships of frontier life. A little island in the stream which flows past the fort is known as Custer's Island and is especially associated with the name of Elizabeth Custer because she nearly lost her life there in a flood. One of the officers lashed her to a great log, so that her body might be found after the flood was over.

The engineering class of the Hays Normal school has undertaken the work of restoring the old fort and blockhouse and has already erected a monument to General Custer upon the island bearing his name. The custom is for each class to erect some monument or restore some landmark to its original appearance. Upon its graduation day the class unveils its work to the public.—"Mimah," in Chicago Daily News.

Great Men Superstitious.

Charles Dickens, Lord Macaulay and Max Muller are numbered among the great men avowedly superstitious. Dickens refused to lie down on a bed unless it was placed due north and south, and he gave ample notice of his rule before arriving at a friend's house or a hotel. It is said he carried a compass in his baggage to make sure, and the slightest error had to be corrected before he would turn in.

Proof that the high cost of living is due in some degree to the cost of high living is afforded by the Ulster county tax budget adopted by the Board of Supervisors, which is only $10 larger than that of a year ago No material and necessary need of the county has been slighted yet by the exercise of prudence and intelligent economy, taxes have been kept down to normal notwithstanding the fact that the state tax over which the Board has no control is some $10 000 higher than last year In the face of higher prices and this increase of state tax the Board of Supervisors has reduced that part of the budget it controls by more than $10 000 Were similar prudence and judgment used in other branches of the government and in private enterprises there would soon be no high cost of living problem left Of course every person with a scheme for spending other peoples money has not had his will and there will be criticism from some of these, but the Supervisors have made a record that is a complete answer to such critics

Resolutions adopted by Orange county Grangers demanding the repeal of the State "daylight saving" law calls attention to the fact that there is still such a law on the state books Congress repealed the federal law several months ago over the veto of President Wilson but the daylight saving" farce is law in New York state Of all the absurd laws foisted upon the country by faddists "to help win the war" none is more absurd and illogical than daylight saving" It resulted in no saving of daylight and is no benefit to any worker while it is a positive detriment to the interests and health of a large proportion of the people The only beneficiaries were those whose work is cash and hours of labor short under any circumstances and who were enabled by daylight saving" which caused the real workers to begin the day at an uncomfortably early hour to have an extra hour for amusement without inconvenience to themselves The legislature should put New York State in harmony with the nation by repealing the silly law

"THE REAL MEXICO"

An interesting but rather paradoxical article on "The Real Mexico is contributed to the New York Sun The anonymous writer denounces the Carranza clique and pays a high tribute to the Mexican people as intelligent as well as honest and kindly He lived in Mexico 20 years evidently as a mine operator, and declares that in no place in the world could he have received greater courtesy or greater kindness" In part he says

From that time (1880) on for thirty years every month a bullion train crossed the Sierra Madre mountains carrying anywhere from 50 000 to 400 000 ounces of silver, and as a rule on the return trip one mounted guard and two men on foot came ahead alone with possibly two or three pack mules and anywhere from $50 000 to $150 000 in silver coin and bank bills Never during all these years was an attempt made to hold up these men, all of whom were Mexicans boys who were taken from the mines and ranches of that section Would you be able to make such a trip from the Battery to the Bronx every month each year for thirty years and not be held up" We never had a strike and all we did to obtain these results was to give the people a square deal These people were so much happier and more law abiding than people in any similar place in the United States that you can not make a comparison unless you show our own country in a bad light

Such is the view of a mine operator who found smooth sailing in Mexico until the "unscrupulous element accomplished "the ruin of the richest and one of the most law abiding of countries" The writer protests against "war with Mexico" because we have nothing to go to war with Mexico about" he demands that a distinction be made between "a great race and nation and a few lawless pro-German followers of Carranza Nevertheless he asks for intervention promising that the excellent Mexican people will be intelligent enough to understand that the desire of the United States is not a conquest of Mexico but to police the country to protect the law abiding and to make possible the rebuilding and operation of railroads and factories and mines, to make their homes, wives and daughters safe; to protect their live stock"

Obviously it would be impossible to fight the "Carranza clique" without making war on the Mexican people It would seem to be equally obvious that an armed invasion would rouse the patriotism of the people and cause them to flock to the Carranza standard or any other element opposing the American advance The writer of this article asks for the impossible, but his view of the Mexican people is important, American investors in Mexico having hitherto been supposed to desire intervention solely in their own interests

Representative Gallivan of Massachusetts figures that between December 5 and January 16 the Government will lose half a billion in taxes if war-time prohibition is not lifted but this is a mere bagatelle compared with the continuing loss of revenue under constitutional prohibition The sound and lawful reason for ending war-time prohibition is that demobilization is complete

The Statue Christ

What is most odd to talk about these colossal figures of Christ is and ought to be the simple claim and this we can never verify of it or of all is that not only are they not the work of a half lifeless monument of dogma but men who have suffered our sorrows and experienced our disappointments adore the objects of such fervent devotion whose foreheads are furrowed by the wrinkles of doubt and whose hearts are handled by the chill of disenchantment.—Emile Chevelier

A Men's Store for Women

EVERY year we hear the same old story about the wife who bought her husband a many-colored tie for a present and then expected him to wear it and have a Merry Xmas

Evidently that woman didn't live in this community It's been our experience that it's the women who make the best selections. That's one of the reasons we've turned this men's store into a store for women this Christmas.

We have an unusually fine stock of high grade clothes and furnishings for men. There are Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes for men and young men; stylish, all-wool; silk shirts, hosiery, neckwear; hats, shoes.

These are just a few of the suggestions we have to make The services of this store are at your disposal. Just bring in your shopping list.

SEAL CAMPAIGN IS GOING WELL

Limit Club Nearing 100 Members—Canvass in Second Ward Finished—County Reports Not Received.

Tuesday evening there was a meeting of the executive council of the Ulster county committee on the prevention of tuberculosis held at the office of the chairman, Judge Joseph M. Fowler, and many exceedingly important matters relative to tuberculosis work in the county, of course, especially noting the present drive, were taken up and considered.

Mr. Carl, chairman of the Christmas drive, reported that the Limit Club was nearing its 100 members, and judging from the people yet to be heard from, and whom it is fully expected will respond favorably, that club will very soon have its full membership. The canvass in the city has gone and is going splendidly. As was previously stated in The Freeman, Ward 2 in the city has been completely canvassed. The special report from Mrs. Frank Thompson, president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, of her work in the Fourth ward was particularly interesting. While she did not make a final report as to the amount which the ward would contribute, she told of taking an interpreter with her and visiting many Polish, Russian and other foreign-born families and having explained to them what this tuberculosis work was all about. As a result a great many families which had never before given anything to help our city and county get rid of consumption gave all they could afford. Practically no one refused to give something, and the educational value of Mrs. Thompson's canvass was considered by the council to be beyond estimation.

As the workers in the county were to mail to Chairman Carl their first reports on Tuesday, only a very few had been received and it was deemed wise to await today's mail before publishing any county reports.

The executive council not only most heartily endorsed the benefit performance to be given at Kingston Opera House on Monday evening—two performances, one at 7 o'clock and one at 9 o'clock, even if not so stated on the tickets—the entire proceeds to go to the Tuberculosis Hospital fund, but expressed their sincere appreciation of the generous offer of Manager Gildersleeve and Mr. Hathaway, which gives the entire proceeds from the Paramount picture, "Fires of Fate," to the tuberculosis committee. Ralph Cohen is acting as chairman of this splendid enterprise. It is stated that the picture, which is most thrilling and interesting, covering an hour and a half of scenes, also shows some of the splendid Salvation Army work, with Commander Booth herself in the picture.

Another project most cordially endorsed at the meeting was the big dance which Company M will hold at the armory on Christmas night, giving the full proceeds to the tuberculosis committee for its work. Heartiest appreciation of this generosity was also expressed.

The committee fully expected to be able to give more of a public report as to the progress of the present drive within a few days. In the mean time they bespoke increased aid and co-operation of every man, woman and child in Ulster county in sending this drive as well over the top as the other drives have gone.

AT THE THEATRES.

Love, Romance, Mystery and Minstrels Galore.

H. B. Warner in "The Man Who Turned White." A powerful and thrilling drama of the great Sahara desert, showing a spectacular fight with desert brigands, camel caravans, Bedouin daredevil horsemen and beautiful oriental dancing-girls, will be at Keeney's tonight. Also "Vod-a-Vil movies," Pathe Review and Gaumont News.

If you want to see the unconditional surrender of a certain man-haters' club and the sensational capture of its leader and members by cupid and his agents, see Marguerite Clark, dainty little Paramount star, and the supporting cast in her new picture, "Girls," which will be shown at Keeney's tomorrow and Friday. Also a Larry Seaman comedy, "Dew Drop Inn."

Guy Brothers Minstrels appearing at the Kingston Opera House on Friday matinee and night have a new novelty specialty in "Holland," the renowned female impersonator, carrying an elaborate wardrobe which is a feast for "my lady's eyes," contortionist acts, musical numbers, lightning change artists, a quartet of singers beyond compare closing the performance with a watermelon party. There will be a big free street parade at noon.

We cannot go into details for that would be spoiling the story for you. But suffice to say that if you come to the Auditorium tonight you will find out for yourself. You will see a picture full of thrills, adventure and romance. You will see the charming Evelyn Greeley in "The Oakdale Affair." Also Pathe News and Screen Smiles. Tomorrow "Shorty" Hamilton in "The Snail."

WHO'LL GIVE FOR HOSPITAL XMAS

Arrangements are now under way for the annual Christmas celebration at the Tuberculosis Hospital, which takes place during the holiday week. The young people of the Rondout Presbyterian Church will have charge of the entertainment and will help in putting up Christmas gifts, fruit, candy, etc. Now the good people of Kingston and Ulster county are asked to send in their contributions for this Christmas celebration which means so much, so very much, to these unfortunate shut-ins. Gifts of money, or of oranges, grape fruit, nuts, apples, may be sent at any time to Mrs. C. N. Reed, 43 Crown street. Or if any one has any article that they wish to send as a gift that will be acceptable, too. There are two girls at the hospital little Dorothy Coddington, and sixteen-year-old Mary Deschler, who is confined to her wheel chair, and will never be able to walk as other girls can, as both feet were amputated. Especial remembraances for these two patients are asked by Mrs. Reed. If the contributions of money are sent in soon, it will be possible for Mrs. Reed to secure the cards, and gifts while there is a good choice of Christmasy articles in the stores. It has been whispered to Mrs. Reed that the young people who are to be responsible for the entertainment are preparing to give an entirely unique program which will be announced later.

THE 5:10 TRAIN

Discontinued Today But Another Takes its Place to Albany.

The West Shore northbound train that has been arriving at the union station at 5:10 p. m., has been taken off today, but in order to accommodate passengers for Albany and stations north beyond Kingston, the 4:50 afternoon train which has been running only to this city will run to Albany, beginning this afternoon, leaving union station at 5:10 o'clock. As the 2:15 train from New York has also been taken off it will be necessary, until that train is restored, to bring the bodies of the deceased for interment in this city and vicinity on the 4:50 train from New York. The 2:15 train, by reason of its carrying so many bodies from New York to Kingston, was called by the railroad men "the funeral train."

A JOB AS CLERK.

Civil Service Board to Hold Examination on December 19.

The local civil service board will hold an examination for the position of clerk in the board of education Friday evening, December 19, at the city hall. The examination is open for females only. The position carries a salary of $550 a year, with eight weeks vacation period. The subjects of the examination are: Shorthand, typewriting, penmanship, spelling and composition. Those desiring to take the examination must obtain application blanks from Secretary Taylor.

ABOUT YOUR COPY FOR FRIDAY'S AD

Last week advertisers showed a disposition to help themselves by helping The Freeman to get their copy set, a number heeding the appeal to get copy in early. The result was a paper of 20 pages on Friday, with all advertisers taken care of. This week the rush will be fully as great and the conditions of last week will still exist. The insertion of large advertisements cannot be promised unless copy is in the office early Wednesday afternoon and even smaller advertisements may have to be omitted unless copy is furnished early. It is just as easy to write your copy early if you only think so, and the result will be much more pleasing to all concerned than if you delay until it is impossible to get your advertisement in the paper. The Freeman will do all it can—but there is a limit.

Fog Delayed Papers.

Owing to a heavy fog during the afternoon Tuesday, the down town ferries in New York city were unable to cross the Hudson river to New Jersey and the ferry connecting with the West Shore train at Weehawken that is due at 7:10 in the evening did not get across with the Wall street editions of the New York evening newspapers, which did not reach this city until the 9 o'clock train arrived.

ARE YOU GETTING A SQUARE DEAL

IS VAN WAGENEN'S A ONE-PRICE STORE? DOES IT GIVE NO DISCOUNTS? WHY?

The L. B. Van Wagenen Store is a One-Price Store, which means:—if you come to us backed by a bank account of $1 or $100,000, the price of any article you may wish to buy will be the same, absolutely. If you buy $1 worth or $100 worth of goods, the price of each article to you, will be the price first given you by the salesman or woman. It will not be changed, for absolutely no customer receives any discount. Consequently there is one-price for each article to each and every buyer.

(Parenthetically, we wish to state that we do not count charitable or philanthropic Institutions as "Customers," and will continue our policy of service to them by supplying their needs by special arrangement.)

"Why, we are a "One-Price" Store"

When we put the prices on our articles of sale they are recruited according to a "cash" basis. And, by "cash" we mean positive payment within thirty days. This demand is made upon all of our customers. Being assured that our merchandise will be paid for within thirty days, we make the price correspondingly low, not to some customers, but to all customers. Yet if this rule were to be broken by but one discount allowed, we would not know where we were at financially, nor would you know whether or not your neighbor had paid a good bit more or a good bit less for it. Every article you were buying, at the price named you by the clerk.

Assume this policy is carried out in every department in our store, all price being marked just as low as is consistent with sound business, the fact that you may buy a big bill of goods here, does not make it any more possible for us to allow you a discount.

Are you a little offended that you are not to receive from the L. B. Van Wagenen Store, some special consideration in the way of price cutting, or discount, such as you may receive from some other store, somewhere, sometimes? Think this over, please. If you are given some special price or discount here, or there, how do you know that Mr. or Mrs. Brown or Jones does not get a little better price or bigger discount, than you do? Are you satisfied when you find others have been better treated than you were? Wouldn't you rather trade at the store where you know that you and everyone else pays just the same price for a thing?

How about "cutting prices," when we have bargain sales? In such cases there are always some good reasons why we have been able for a special time, occasion and article to make a special price. Yet here, too, not just a few people, but all of our customers have the equal chance to avail themselves of the temporary price reduction.

We are telling you all this now, in order that you may know that if you buy your worth-while Christmas gifts at the L. B. Van Wagenen Store, as well as make your regular Dry Goods, Millinery and Home Furnishing purchases here, you will be buying them at a store where there will be but one price to each and every customer for the articles purchased. This knowledge gives a peculiarly satisfying feeling when one makes a gift to a member of the home, or a near and dear friend.

Please remember! The L. B. Van Wagenen store believes in a square deal and no deal is square when the corners are rounded off to suit some favored party. We want you to know our business policy.

Always at your service,

THE L. B. VAN WAGENEN STORE,
Kingston, N. Y.

Melting Ice To Get Water

Wouldn't it be foolish to melt ice every time we wanted to use water?

But when we use butter or lard compounds in cooking, we melt them until they become fluid.

The melting process takes place in the oven after they are mixed with other food, or in the frying pan.

That is the simple science of cooking with fats.

What we want is the fluid fat.

SALANUT is fluid fat, the refined oil of the peanut---pure vegetable oil.

Filtration and boiling under a vacuum remove the peanut flavor. Live superheated steam passed through it insures purity. Hermetically sealed cans guarantee it against contamination.

SALANUT simplifies cooking.

Ask your grocer for SALANUT.

QUARTET FOR CHRISTMAS SING

Once again the Community Sing had to be held "in spite of" the weather and there certainly was an encouragingly large attendance. All but one of the Christmas carols were sung and went well. The children's number was good but many more children are needed to make the carols especially for them go as they should Plans are under way to get more of the boys and girls out to the next sing Besides the Christmas music a few of the old favorites were sung and enjoyed

During the evening Mr. Dodge announced the quartet who will assist at the Christmas Sing to be Mrs. Arthur Wicks, soprano; Mrs. Eugene Morehouse, contralto; Arthur Rifenbary tenor; John Hall, bass. The numbers of this quartet will be among the most enjoyable and novel features of the Christmas Sing.

WHEN FEASTING WAS REAL

How Many Can Remember the "Second Dinner" of the Good Old Holiday Times?

Allusion was made in an interesting article printed in Courant, describing an old-time Thanksgiving feast, to the second dinner of the day served on that feast at the home of every well-to-do farmer. This allusion was especially happy, inasmuch as in the past scant justice has been done to that meal which was by no means an unimportant feature of the day, for it tested one's capacity as it cannot be in these days when the door of the larder is guarded by not less than 170 food directors or administrators.

It will be remembered that the first meal was served not far from two o'clock in the afternoon, when each person was supposed to eat as on no other occasion in the year, yet by five o'clock in the afternoon, when the lamps were lighted, the table was again spread and the household with its kinsfolk and relations and the stranger within the gates, if such there was, was expected to fall to with as keen appetites as the members had two or three hours earlier. That they did not have such appetites was due solely to the weakness of the flesh, for the spirit was willing.

All the meats which figured at the first meal were displayed for the second, and pies, the very twins of those that had gone before, were on the table and, in addition, were various loaves of cake, actual loaf cake, a very durable article of food and, worst of all, each person was expected to eat heartily lest the housewife should feel that her work had not come up to its usual standard of excellence. It was a frightful ordeal.

For the Episcopalians this ordeal was repeated on Christmas day, while most of the Congregationalists waited until New Year's day, not wishing to lend color to anything approaching an observance of Christmas, but with these holidays out of the way the feasting of the year was over. For the young people of this year those great days never existed and never will exist, for the era of abundant and cheap food is definitely past, but with the older ones that memory of the imposing second dinner is bound to linger. When it existed as a fact it made thoughts of Ugolino, gnawing the skull of his enemy, of the starving men in the prison pen at Andersonville and of the fate of arctic explorers positively enviable. But those days are with the snows of yester-year; we have now dainty dishes, fine service, music of a sort, and flowers if we can pay for them but very little actual food.—Hartford Courant.

The Lotus Festival.

It was a hot summer night, and all the shop windows were bright with lanterns shaped like the lotus buds in the big moat. The moon rose high over the curving Peking roofs and flooded the streets As if the moon had brought him, a child came timidly forth from one of the big, dark gateways. In his hands he held a brilliant lotus bud and a lotus-bud lantern. Then from every gateway, all up and down the streets, the children came forth The air was filled with the music of their happy voices, and there was the sound of their little feet going pitapat in the dust.

Soon the streets were childhood's land, full of color, sound and happiness. Still the children came, rich and poor—children in silk garments of bright colors, children in rags, and little, naked, brown children, all carrying the lotus bud and the lotus-bud lanterns, which threw soft lights up into their happy, childish faces. Ever the crowd of breathless, joyous children and lovely flowers increased.

For a brief, joyous hour, like fairy elves, the children frolicked. Then the candles burned low in the lanterns, and one by one went out. As quickly as they came, the children vanished. The streets were again silent and gloomy. —From "Pioneering Where the World Is Old," by Alice Tisdale.

Pocket Flashlight.

The best help in a kitchen is a small pocket flashlight, kept in a corner of the kitchen cabinet for using when it is necessary to go into the dark cellar or to find something in the bottom of the cupboard or in any of the other dark corners which are in every house. It is safer than a candle and does not require a match, and the light can be thrown without difficulty into the darkest spot

When It's Down Below Zero

Boynton Square Pot Furnaces and Boilers are most appreciated by their owners when the wind howls and the cold bites deep. About that time you're particularly interested in heat in all rooms—still, it's good to know your Boynton heating plant isn't working for the coal dealer.

The exclusive square pot gives more fire surface. The square bed of coals makes practical the use of longer side grate bars and a little shake settles the whole fire evenly. It's as good a fire around the coals as it is in the center.

If you have never examined a Boynton, call on your dealer at once. Get particulars by mail, if more convenient.

WOLF SHOWS REAL CUNNING

Stefansson Compares Him With the Fox, to the Disadvantage of the Smaller Animal

The wisdom of the fox is not so evident as the saying is widespread, but the more I see of wolves the more respect I have for their intelligence, which is unique among the nonhuman inhabitants of the North.

The second day on the new land I met a wolf that came running toward me at first, for he could not fail to mistake me at a distance for a caribou, but when he got within two hundred yards and could see more plainly he realized my strangeness and, what is truly remarkable, inferred that I might be dangerous. This wolf could certainly never have seen a human being before, and the only dark thing of size comparable to mine that he had ever seen must have been either a caribou or a muskox The caribou are his prey, and while he seldom kills a muskox he at least has no reason to fear that exceptionally clumsy and slow-moving animal.

But at two hundred yards this wolf paused and, after a good look that satisfied him that I was something new in his experience, commenced to circle me at that distance to get my wind. When he got it it took him off at top speed. The similarly unsophisticated foxes of this region will commonly run within ten or fifteen yards of you and follow you around for miles, barking like a toy dog following a pedestrian.—Vilhjalmur Stefansson in Harper's Magazine.

EXERCISE MAY BE OVERDONE

Nature's Signals to Desist Should Be Heeded by Those Who Would Preserve Health.

"Pursued ostensibly to promote personal welfare, physical exercise is not infrequently carried to a point of overdoing, which results in injury rather than benefit," says the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Commenting on some observations made on aviators, it says the test of the value of an exercise lies in the physiological adjustments that it induces "If the heart reduces its rate of beating and is less sensitive to exercise, the training is commendable. Training should make the heart and other muscles better and endure fatiguing exercises better than the untrained heart does. Consequently, if the heart reacts excessively as a result of work, if there is a rapid rise in pulse rate, which returns to its normal only after a long interval, the fundamental aim of exercise for health has not been accomplished. The symptoms of an overworked mechanism are at hand. However advantageous vigorous training may be in the great majority of cases, failure to adjust to the increased demand of work is always a signal to desist and an indication that other modes of perfecting the organism should be sought."

Callus? "Gets-It" Will Peel It Off!

Nothing on Earth Like Simple "Gets-It" for Corns or Calluses.

A callus, or thickened skin on the sole of the foot, which often makes walking a misery is of the same nature as a corn. "Gets-It"

Use "Gets-It" and Dance, Even with Corns

removes it as easily as it does the toughest corns. By using a few drops of "Gets-It" on the callus, you will be able to peel it off with your fingers, in one complete piece just as you would a banana peel. It leaves the skin free and smooth as though you never had a callus. You need no more fussy plasters, sticky salves, "packages" bandages, knives or scissors for corns or calluses "Gets-It" is the rational corn remover, the greatest on earth, used by millions. It never fails. You'll work, play and dance at ease in spite of corns "Gets-It," the only sure quick, safe, money-back corn-remover (or shoe dealer's money back), 25c a bottle. Sold by

EAST INDIAN CURRIED DISHES.

In spite of its high seasoning, people who have acquired the taste for curry enjoy it at any season. Although curry powder is not expensive when purchased, one may prepare it at home and be sure of its purity.

Take one ounce each of turmeric, coriander seed, white ginger, nutmeg, mace and cayenne. Pound all together in a mortar and sift through a fine sieve; bottle and cork well.

To prepare curry, a rabbit, chicken or other delicately flavored meat is required. For chicken curry cover the chicken with boiling water, adding two large onions and a bouquet of herbs. Simmer gently for an hour and a quarter or until the chicken is tender, removing all fat as it rises. Add two tablespoonfuls of flour to the same amount of fat, mix until well blended and stir into the chicken broth. Add a teaspoonful, or more if partial to the taste, of curry powder. This should be mixed with the flour and fat. Beat the yolks of three eggs, stir into the gravy carefully, add salt together with the juice of half a lemon Heat but do not boil. Pour over the chicken and arrange around it a border of rice.

Curry of Mutton.—Fry one large onion chopped fine in two tablespoonfuls of butter. Mix one tablespoonful of curry powder, one teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of flour and stir into the butter and onion Add gradually one pint of stock. Cut two pounds of lean mutton into small pieces and brown them in hot fat; add them to the gravy and simmer until tender Place the meat on a hot dish and arrange a border of rice around the meat.

Curried Eggs.—Cook six eggs until hard, remove the shells and cut in halves Fry a teaspoonful of onion in a tablespoonful of butter, add one tablespoonful of cornstarch or two of flour, mixed with half a tablespoonful of curry powder Pour over slowly one and one-half cupfuls of stock, cream or milk; add salt Simmer till the onions are soft, then add the eggs. Simmer until hot. Serve in a shallow dish or arrange on toast

Wee Ways In Fashion

To the biggest eyes in the world to the tip-top curl and saucy dimples—it is surprising how engaging such a combination links itself to all the carves of pinks and blues ever known to fashion. Babies were made for naive trifles of ribbons, for bits of lace, spun of moonshine for powers—soft lengths of fairy fabrics and babies have a genius for being becoming to anything—which is the way a pink rose is of always being becoming to spring.

A bundle of sky laughter—of blue and golden dreams—a wide awake wonder—that is your baby.

Here are some suggestions for Christmas gifts for that little face that looks like an apple blossom:

posed fare and make it $1 instead of 75 cents.

Getting Cream of Business.

Mr. TenBroeck said that during the summer there was an influx of 40 or 50 people who have cars at the station to obtain business. This he did not think fair as the taxi owners operate the year round and pay their men the year round. He said that the taxi men hardly thought it fair for these summer men to step in and secure the cream of the business during the summer months and then lay their cars up for the winter. The taxi men would like to be protected in this matter.

Defends Chauffeurs.

Mr. TenBroeck also made a defense of the chauffeurs of the city. He said that they had been subjected to unjust criticism for their remarks or conduct. He called attention to the fact that they have been obliged to carry intoxicated passengers at one time or another, and that they had been subjected to insults which they had been obliged to swallow.

Don't Want Constable Tag.

He said that the chauffeurs were not in favor of wearing a big "constable's badge" pinned on their chest as it would tend to lower the dignity of the profession and make them "feel like menials."

Mr. TenBroeck suggested that all taxi drivers wear a uniform cap bearing a tasty municipal crest and the chauffeur's number on the peak of the cap.

Suggestions Thought Well Of.

Alderman Schilp said that he thought the suggestions made by Mr. TenBroeck were reasonable, and that the taxi owners should be protected during the summer months.

Alderman Mann said that he thought this ordinance an important one, and that hasty action should not be taken.

President Watts suggested that all suggestions be made in writing, and submitted to the laws and rules committee.

Don't Want Steamer Trunks.

Mr. TenBroeck made the further suggestion that there be incorporated in the proposed ordinance a section forbidding the carrying of steamer trunks on top of taxicabs. He said that it was unsafe. He also thought that the brakes on all cabs should be tested periodically.

A further suggestion made by him was that the record of every applicant for a license should be thoroughly examined. An eye test also should be included.

Mr. Dohnken's Objection.

William Dohnken, who owns and operates his own taxi, objected to the provision in the ordinance giving the chief of police the power to revoke a license. He said he had driven a car for ten years, and had never been arrested, but he added with a laugh: "I am playing safe."

Ordinance Laid Over.

After some further discussion Alderman Schilp moved that the ordinance be laid over until the adjourned meeting December 30, and that in the meantime the taxi men meet with the committee on laws and rules and submit their suggestions to the committee to be considered.

The motion was adopted, and the council adjourned to that date.

Other matters taken up will be found in another column.

Xmas Tree Prices Little Higher.

With the holiday season but two weeks off the dealers in Christmas trees are daily receiving large shipments from the mountain districts and most of the fruit stores and florists in the city have a large stock on display. One of the largest dealers in Christmas trees stated on Monday that there was each year greater difficulty in getting good stock and each year the evergreens were getting scarcer, consequently the prices each year were creeping up. This year the prices are about the same as last, ranging from 25 cents for small ones up to several dollars for the larger trees.

Kyserike Dairymen Incorporate.

The Kyserike Dairymen's League Co-Operative Association has filed a certificate of incorporation in the office of the Ulster county clerk. The amount of indebtedness which may be incurred is $5,000. The board of directors is as follows: Henry L. Winchell, Jacob H. Barley, S. M. Aldrich, Charles Roosa, Frank W. Bishop. The territory in which operations of the corporation will be conducted is towns of Marbletown, Rochester, Rosendale and Olive.

Rip Van Winkle was not perfect

Neither was the Old Fashioned Razor—But

RIP lacked some of those qualities which society demands—yet, year after year, people kept the great and good Joseph Jefferson playing the part of that lovable vagabond.

Like Rip, the old-fashioned razor was not perfect either—but it was a real razor—an efficient shaving tool developed by centuries of use and workmanship, and entitled to be kept for its good points. In fact, it was old-fashioned only in that it lacked two modern things—the two-edged, detachable blade and—safety.

To add these, but to retain the good of the old, is real progress in razor development.

CONFERENCE ON HIGHWAYS DEC. 17

Called By Governor To Consider Problem of Financing—One-Tenth Of Big Bond Issue Left—Auto Ass'n To Endorse Chandler's Plan For Foiling Auto Thieves.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 10.—The New York State Automobile Association is deeply interested in the conference called by Governor Smith for December 17th in the Assembly Chamber to discuss and devise the best methods for securing funds for highway construction and maintenance.

Officials of the New York State Automobile Association are among those who received invitations from the governor to attend. Others include leaders of the legislature, state officials, prominent financiers prominent citizens, representatives of Chambers of Commerce, civil organizations, the Grange, Farm Bureau and other organizations. Since the first bond issue for highway work in 1906 the State Automobile Association has been one of the most active organizations in the state, and at times was the only organization in the state in pushing projects that meant more and better roads and this association will now be found in the front line with those called to assist the governor and highway commissioner in meeting the pressing needs for highway funds.

The governor has called attention, in his notice of the conference, to the fact that only $10,000,000 is left of the $100,000,000 authorized in the highway bond issues of 1906 and 1912. This sum will be completely exhausted before the end of 1920 in construction work and in addition, Highway Commissioner Greene has asked for $15,000,000 for maintenance work. While a $100,000,000 bond issue is being widely talked of many of the most expert financiers believe that it would be more economical and practical to inaugurate a policy of paying for new road construction out of the current revenues of the state. In his letter of invitation to the conference, Governor Smith said that if highway construction is to continue, either this must be done or the legislature of 1921 must have available a new bond issue authorized by the people at the election last fall.

The conference is called by the governor to discuss and decide upon the future policy of the state in relation to highways, cost, construction and maintenance.

On the morning of the day of this conference, the executive committee and law and legislative committee of the State Automobile Association will meet to consider and shape its legislative program for the coming session.

Among the most important propositions the association will favor are: Licensing and examining on rules of the road all operators of motor vehicles; making more effective anti-glare headlight law; requiring secretary of state to supply each owner a copy of motor vehicle law with amendments when license is granted; better laws to prevent stealing and disposal of stolen cars; and other legislation in behalf of the motorists of the state.

Major George F. Chandler, superintendent of the state troopers, has suggested for legislative enactment one of the most practical methods for preventing the sale of stolen cars and running down the thief, which the State Automobile Association will undoubtedly approve and exert its efforts to secure favorable action by the legislature.

Among the state automobile representatives attending these meetings and conference with the governor will be Henry W. Robbins, president, Albert W. Seaman, chairman law and legislative committee, Melvin T. Bender, general counsel, A. J. Deer, member executive committee, and Herbert W. Baker, secretary.

Sunday School Election.

At a largely attended meeting of the Sunday school board of the St. James M. E. Church, held at the home of C. V. Hogan on Monday evening, all the officers and teachers were re-elected for another year, I. J. Rose being the superintendent. W. D. Styles has been the treasurer for over thirty years. All the proceedings were characterized by the greatest unanimity and good feeling. The reports showed that the condition of the Sunday school is excellent, especially as related to the teaching staff, numbers, finances and spirit. The school has just purchased a fine new hymnal. All the plans for the best-ever Christmas entertainments are going ahead, the committees being all busy. The primary department will have its own exercises on Tuesday afternoon, December 23, and the main school on Tuesday evening, December 30. Not in a long time has the outlook been as bright.

Prettily Expressed.

A young nephew of mine adores his grandmother. He is intense in all things and in school, which is new to him, the little arithmetic taught him appealed to him more than anything else. Last week his grandmother had her seventieth birthday. He handed her his little gift and, kissing her, said, "Dear grandmother, I hope that you will like this, and that you will live to add another cipher to your age."—Exchange.

CITY FATHERS BOOST SALARIES

City Clerk Doremus and Deputy Clerk Turner Each Get $500 Raise—City to Borrow $30,000—Public Hearing Dec. 30 on Motor Bus Applications.

City Clerk Fred H. Doremus and Deputy City Clerk Joseph D. Turner were all smiles today, and the reason was easily ascertained. At the meeting of the common council held Tuesday evening at the city hall, Alderman Van Valkenburgh's resolution that after January 1, the salary of the city clerk be fixed at $2,500, and the salary of the deputy clerk at $1,700, was unanimously adopted. This was an increase of $500 in salary in each case.

Three petitions to operate motor bus lines were filed with the city clerk, and read at the meeting that evening.

Howard C. Winne of No. 280 Washington avenue, who operates the Kingston-Phoenicia bus line, filed a petition with schedule of fares and running time. The fare from Kingston to Phoenicia was 75 cents with lesser rates for intermediate points. He said he would stop at the uptown terminal.

Peter Kleis of No. 101 Partition street, Saugerties, operating the Kingston-Saugerties bus line, filed a petition with running time and fare schedule, stating he would stop at the central Broadway terminal and the uptown terminal in the Kingston Hotel. He charged a fare of 35 cents between Kingston and Saugerties.

Charles Kidd of No. 53 Downs street, operating the Kingston-New Paltz bus line, also filed a petition. He would stop at the Arcade terminal on the Strand. He charged a fare of 50 cents from the city to New Paltz.

The question of granting the three petitions for license to operate over the city streets will be taken up at a public hearing to be held Tuesday evening, December 30, at 7:30 o'clock.

Mayor Canfield sent in a communication calling attention to the bank share tax amounting to nearly $15,000 and that there is also a loss of nearly $30,000 in excise taxes, and that it was necessary, as in former years, to raise necessary funds to carry on the work of the city departments until the tax collection period in February.

Alderman Higgins offered a resolution, which was adopted, that the sum of $30,000 be borrowed and that the mayor and city treasurer be authorized to issue a promissory note for the amount.

Alderman Hull offered a resolution, which was adopted, that a warrant be issued for $185 and delivered to the corporation counsel for settlement of the claim of the Cameron Septic Tank Company. Ever since the septic tanks were installed by the city many years ago this company has claimed that their patent had been used without permission by the one installing the tanks. Other cities and villages using the tanks have been sued to recover royalties on the use of the process, and it has been dragging along in the courts until recently the courts have decided in favor of the patentee. Cities and villages using the patented sewage disposal plants have settled on a per population basis, and Kingston's settlement on that basis would be the $185 called for in the resolution.

Other matters taken up will be found elsewhere.

SPECIAL MATINEE

Of Tuberculosis Benefit Picture For Children Monday.

The committee in charge of raising funds for the Tuberculosis Hospital, who have secured the use of the Kingston Opera House gratis from O. S. Hathaway, the owner, will give a special matinee Monday afternoon, December 15th, at 4 o'clock for the school children of the city. The picture to be shown is "Fires of Fate," featuring such noted stars as Catherine Calvert, Ruby de Remer, Eugene O'Brien and Theodore Roberts. Commander Evangeline Booth of the Salvation Army appears personally in the picture.

The picture presents an unusually powerful story which centers around Elizabeth Blake, a slum girl, the character being taken by Catherine Calvert. From the slums of New York city the film carries Elizabeth to France where she becomes one of the Salvation Army "doughnut girls." There is action throughout the entire story and finally Elizabeth meets Luke Barlow, her old lover, and there is a happy ending to the story.

Besides the special matinee for children in the afternoon there will be one show in the evening at 8 o'clock. The entire price of admission which will be 25 and 50 cents will be devoted to the Tuberculosis Hospital.

You Do Not Want "Cheap" Telephone Service

"Cheap service is just exactly what it says—"cheap" service It's "cheap" in quality, "cheap" in value and "cheap" in results.

A community that employs "cheap" service will sooner or later get the name of being a "cheap" place.

You don't want "cheap" telephone service; and we don't want to give it to you. In fact there is just one kind of service we are willing to render, and that is the best.

But good service costs money; like everything else it costs what it is worth. Operators and linemen and other telephone workers must be properly paid if we are to retain efficient people. Wire and poles and all building materials and work must be paid for according to their value.

Higher rates for telephone service became necessary if we were to provide adequate telephone service. We, therefore, established new schedules effective December 1, 1919. These rates are intended to return enough added revenue to enable us to meet higher costs of operation and maintain good service. We do not believe you would have it otherwise.

No Novelty.

"How did you find the feller that runs the Busy Bee store?" inquired an acquaintance.

"I just rummaged around till I unearthed him," replied a citizen of Sandy Mush, Ark., who had been shopping in Tumlinville.

"Yes, but I heerd that he was in mighty bad health?"

"Mebby so. He may have been puny, but I didn't notice it. I found him asleep in the back room setting on a keg, and when I asked him if he had any axle grease he 'lowed he had, but wanted to know if I couldn't just as well come around later, when he'd prob'ly be standing up. Nope, I didn't see anything peculiar about him.—Kansas City Star.

A Gauge.

Miss Elsie DeWolfe was talking at the New York Colony club about youth.

"You can judge people's intelligence," she said, "by their attitude towards youth. I once heard a conversation between two old maids, the one intelligent, and the other stupid. As they sat in the winter garden of their Florida hotel after dinner, the stupid old maid said:

"'Look at those young men and girls flirting under the date palms in the moonlight. Why should young people make such fools of themselves?'

"'Maybe,' said the intelligent old maid, 'it's because they have the chance.'"

One Good Result From War.

The production on a commercial scale of helium, second only to hydrogen, as the lightest gas, is not least striking of the industrial effects of the war. Though 2.13 times as heavy as hydrogen, its lifting power is only 8 per cent less in the air, and, as it is inert and non-inflammable, it supplies the means of making the airship safe. Though detected spectroscopically in the sun by Lockyer in 1868, helium was first discovered on the earth by Ramsay in 1905. It exists in all radium minerals, such as cleveite and thorianite, but the small quantity that had been extracted before last year cost some thousands of dollars per cubic foot! Through the arrangements now being made, the 1 per cent of helium in natural gases will be obtained at about $100 per 3,000 cubic feet.

Hawaiian Islands.

In the Hawaiian group there are twelve main islands, all classed as United States territory. The total area is 6,449 square miles. The inhabited islands number eight—Hawaii, Maui, Kahoolawe, Lanai, Molokai, Oahu, Maui and Nihua. In addition there are numerous small islands in the chain which are valuable for their guano deposits and shark fishing grounds, but which are not inhabited.

HAS 2 INDEPENDENCE DAYS

Republic of Ecuador Celebrates August Tenth and October Ninth as National Holidays.

The Republic of Ecuador celebrates two national holidays, and both are "independence days," according to the Pan-American Union.

The liberty-loving patriots had to shoot two bolts at Spanish domination before they succeeded in gaining permanent independence. The first time they had a quiet but determined revolution in Quito, the present capital of the republic, the patriots assembling at the house of Manuela Cañizares, a brave and beautiful woman, on August 5, 1809, when they prepared their declaration of independence and chose the officials who were to compose the provisional government. That night the conspirators gathered their forces in different parts of the city and Captain Salinas, who commanded the two companies of regular troops that guarded the city, went to their barracks, read to them the declaration and won them over to the cause of the patriots. They overpowered the bodyguard of Ruiz de Castilla, the Spanish governor, early on the morning of August 10 and thus established the first republic without shedding a drop of blood. It lasted only about a year, when Castilla succeeded in overthrowing the patriotic government and again brought the country under Spanish dominion.

The fires of liberty had not died, however, and the Ecuadoreans kept up their heroic struggle, notwithstanding many reverses, until in 1820 the people of Guayaquil, the leading seaport of the country, succeeded in rebelling on the ninth of October. With the aid of Gen. Simon Bolivar, the great Venezuelan emancipator, and of his compatriot, Gen. Antonio Jose Sucre, the Ecuadoreans, after many bloody battles, succeeded in completely annihilating the Spanish forces and established freedom in Ecuador forever. Therefore it is that the Ecuadoreans celebrate two "independence days," the tenth of August and the ninth of October.

Housecleaning Hedgehogs.

It is said that when in camp during the winter the woodsmen of Maine entertain many strange guests—blue-jays, chickadees, wood mice and hedgehogs among them. One woodsman leaving the camp on a Saturday used to neglect purposely to close the door of his shack in order that the hedgehogs might enter and clean his floor.

Inasmuch as the principal edibles of the camp mess are pork and beans, bacon and other dishes rich in fat, grease is spilled upon the floor in a week and a hedgehog will risk his neck for a bit of fat.

Just as soon, therefore, as this particular camp was deserted by its occupants the spiny gluttons would hasten in and begin to plane off the surface of the floor with their chiselike teeth, eating away all the wood that held a trace of grease. On his return to camp the owner could sweep up and enjoy the comforts of a clean house for another week. The only serious objection to this method of housecleaning lay in the fact that it was necessary to lay a new camp floor frequently.

Reindeer Meat.

The former United States commissioner at Saint Michael, Alaska, William B. Stephenson, writes in his new book about Alaska, "The Land of Tomorrow," that "the reindeer reaches of the far North are destined to solve the meat question for the United States."

"Reindeer breeding is fast becoming an important factor, and here again one must revert to the land. Reindeer need space, for they are the food of Alaska and must have pasturage. This pasturage is always to be had. Reindeer steaks are and have been for a long time regularly quoted on the Seattle markets. That they will one day figure conspicuously in our meat supply cannot be questioned. Already the big packing concerns have sent their representatives to look over the ground. There is one drawback to this industry, however, which will have to be adjusted and regulated before it can become profitable. The cost of shipping is now prohibitive. Alaska now has 100,000 reindeer. Within the next ten years she will have 3,000,000."

The Lergt and the Snake.

Every one has heard of the remarkable combats of the Indian mongoose with venomous snakes, in which little rikkitikkitavi comes off victor. The fact that the mongoose invariably survives has led to the suggestion that it is immune to snake poison. Other animals said to be immune are the pig and the hedgehog. The experiments of a British naturalist show that an animal of the dormouse family must be added to the list of the immune. This animal is known as the lerot and is said to fight fiercely with vipers. Large doses of viper's poison were injected into one lerot, from which injection no ill effects followed. On one occasion a lerot was badly bitten in the eye by a viper and no signs of poisoning followed.

USE PLAIN WORDS

Up-to-Date Young People Do Not Apply Soft Pedal.

Ancient Fashion of Vague Allusion to Things Is Passe and All Say What They Mean About Things.

Americans used to come in for a good deal of teasing and "joshing" by Englishmen because of their tendency to show an exaggerated delicacy in their choice of words. Especially was this squeamishness apparent among American women 40 or 50 years ago, when so far from ever speaking of their own legs they actually called the uprights of a square piano limbs and would have blushed with mortification if you had mentioned the chair legs. In England they said that an American woman would never refer to the breast of a chicken, but referred to that portion of the bird as the bosom.

Some who laughed at this overniceness made the comment that people who condemned so many harmless words must have evil minds or they would see no harm in them. But really it did not indicate evil-mindedness. It was just a natural phase of the general oversqueamishness of the time. No wonder that the young woman who was cautioned never to show more than the tip of her toe beneath her voluminous hoopskirts and who couldn't to save her life have taken a deep breath—no wonder she was overfastidious in the choice of her words. It was part of the fashion of the time. It really was bad form as manners were then framed to speak with even moderate frankness.

But now the pendulum has swung far in the other direction, and it is the well-bred thing to avoid those circumlocutions used once to soften words of too great realism. It is considered a little old-fashioned or countrified now to say that you are going to retire when you might say simply that you are going to bed. Likewise we speak of bedrooms, whereas our careful grandmothers would never have used so frank a word. They spoke of chambers or sleeping apartments.

Sometime ago it was considered the well-bred thing to use circumlocutions when speaking of death. To a certain extent this is still done, but in general the progressive young American avoids such euphemisms as "pass beyond" and "pass away." People more frequently used to say "if anything should happen to me" or "in case I should be called beyond" when they meant simply "if I should die," which means exactly the same thing just as vividly and has the advantage of being straight Anglo-Saxon.

Old-fashioned folk used to use softened words to indicate poverty. They spoke about being "in reduced circumstances." They would have considered it rude to say a friend was poor, though they might have said that he was a "person of moderate means." If a woman found herself in a position where she had to earn her own living they said that "she had joined the army of toilers," never that she had "gone to work."

People spoke of salaries, remunerations, compensations and honorariums, seldom of wages or pay. They spoke of positions and posts. Nowadays the thoroughly up-to-date young person speaks of her job.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Humbugs in Animal Kingdom.

In military stables horses are known to have pretended to be lame in order to avoid going to a military exercise. A chimpanzee had been fed on cake when sick. After his recovery he often feigned coughing in order to procure dainties.

The cuckoo, as is well known, lays its eggs in another bird's nest, and, to make the deception surer, it takes away one of the other bird's eggs. Animals are conscious of their deceit, as is shown by the fact that they try to act secretly and noiselessly; they show a sense of guilt if detected; they take precautions in advance to avoid discovery; in some cases they manifest regret and repentance, an exchange says. Thus, bees which steal hesitate often before and after their exploits, as if they feared punishment.

A naturalist describes how his monkey committed theft. While he pretended to sleep the animal regarded him with hesitation, and stopped every time his master moved or seemed on the point of awakening.

FIGHT TUBERCULOSIS!
Red Cross Christmas Seal Campaign

Heraiding abroad a message of hope, this picture appeal goes forth into the highways and byways of America—an insistent reminder that the country's greatest health menace, tuberculosis, is both preventable and curable. The poster is issued by the National Tuberculosis Association, which directs the annual sale of Red Cross Christmas seals from which its funds are chiefly derived. The organization has set $6,500,000 as its goal for the seal sale.

ALPS HAD THEIR REVENGE

Famous Airman Who Had Defied Great Mountains at Last Meets His Death There.

Few of the men who have given their lives to the air have met a more impressive end than the handsome, golden-haired young Captain Natale Palli. He was the favorite pilot during the war of Maj. Gabriel d'Annunzio, the Italian poet who became one of the greatest airmen.

Palli evidently had motor trouble when right over the Alps. With extraordinary skill he landed his machine on a glacier 9,000 feet high. Getting out of it unhurt, he started to climb down the mountain side. A snowstorm soon set in around him, but on he plodded through the floundering drifts towards the little village of Pourg St. Moritz, in the valley below. For a whole day at least he stumbled forward, without food and pierced by the bitter cold.

Then, when he was 200 yards from a mountain hut, and within sight of the Alpine village, his strength gave out and he sank down into the snow. His courage urged him to another effort; the snow was found with the marks of his struggles to rise again. But he could do no more, and there, two days later, a passing peasant found the gallant young Italian pilot lying with his head on his arm as if asleep, half-covered by the snow, and without a bruise on his body.

So did the Alps which he had conquered revenge themselves upon Natale Palli, who had escaped death in 140 raids over the enemy lines in war.

EASY TO IMPROVE MEMORY

Whole Secret Is to Concentrate the Mind Entirely on the One Thing in Hand.

People of poor memory are generally inattentive and fail to concentrate. Systems like Pelmanism help to good memory in that they focus the mind on the thing at hand. Dreamers read, and for the life of them cannot tell what the last sentence was, unless it was something in which they were vividly interested waking them out of their dream, and then it is fixed for good, thus showing that memory is conditioned on attention and concentration. To cure this requires heroic treatment. Make it a religious resolve to attend only to the thing in hand. If it is reading, concentrate on the book so thoroughly that every sentence takes clearly defined meaning in the mind. One cannot think of something else and at the same time understand and remember what he is reading. The trick in the game of memory is to overcome dreaming, abstraction, inattention. It can be done by persistent, patient, long-continued effort.

Cause she was anything but prim and sedate; quite the reverse, she was a wild, harum-scarum young person, and when her stepmother tried to force her into an unwelcome marriage the young lady promptly disguised herself as a boy and ran away from home, taking with her plenty of money and jewelry. Then her troubles began. Getting mixed up with a band of tramps she managed to escape from their clutches only to fall into the hands —or do ghosts have hands—of a lively apparition. Then somebody or other committed a murder, and Gail was accused of the crime; then she disappeared again. Evelyn Greeley is the boy-girl heroine. JURY ASSESSES O'REILLY $2,852

The jury in the case of the New York Telephone Company against John O'Reilly brought in a sealed verdict this morning for the plaintiff in the sum of $851.92 and an additional amount of $2,000 for Mr. Smith who was injured in the accident when the motorcycle of the company collided with Mr. O'Reilly's car. The telephone company brought the action to recover for moneys paid out under the workman's compensation law. Mr. Smith who was driving the motorcycle assigned his claim to the telephone company and was not a party in the action brought in court. Judge Nichols directed that that the verdict as brought in by the jury be amended to read $2,851.92 for the plaintiff, the Telephone Company, as Mr. Smith was not a party to the action, and the jury could therefore not find for him.

The action brought by Ida Fraser against Fred I. Wiedner was then taken up and proved to be one of the most interesting cases so far tried before the present court. The action is brought to recover for the indignities suffered by the plaintiff by reason of an arrest which was made in June, 1919, when Ida Fraser was arrested on a charge of petit larceny, in stealing, it is claimed a fish pole of Mr. Schoonmaker. She was later discharged and the complaint dismissed.

From the testimony which was given in court this morning Miss Fraser and her brother, Philip H. Fraser live in the town of Shandaken in the summer time. During the remainder of the year they reside in New York city where Mr. Fraser is a private teacher or tutor as he testified to Miss Fraser also is a private teacher.

Also the testimony brought out the fact that it was Philip Fraser, who was charged with having shot twice at Millard Davis, but missed him, last summer while Mr. Davis was going past, or over the Fraser property to a farm which he and D. N. Mathews own above the Fraser property. The arrest and arraignment of Mr. Fraser on this charge figures in the present case and was referred to by several of the witnesses. The charge was investigated and no indictment was found by the grand jury and Mr. Fraser was discharged.

It appears from the testimony that Mr. Schoonmaker of Newburgh, an old resident of the towns of Olive and Shandaken, had come up to Dr. Goff's home near Mt. Tremper to spend some time fishing. On the morning in question he went up the creek which passes the Fraser property on his way to the "Brown" farm which is owned by Millard Davis and Mr. Mathews. While trying to get through a barbed wire fence near the Fraser property, he being an old man, became unable to navigate the entanglements and was securely caught. In order to loosen himself he threw his fish pole through the fence on the Fraser property and tried to loosen himself. It appears that Miss Fraser came down at this point and ordered him off the property. Mr. Schoonmaker testifies that he did get off leaving considerable of his clothing on the barbed wire fence in his haste.

Here the testimony differs, as to whether Miss Fraser took the fish pole or whether she called her brother and he took the pole. At any rate the pole was confiscated by the Frasers and upon demand by Mr. Schoonmaker, they told him they would keep the pole until he "paid for the damages."

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Mrs Anna M. Fischer died at her home, No. 22 Mary's avenue, Wednesday morning. She was an old resident of this city, and well respected by all who knew her. She is survived by her husband, one sister, Mrs. Barbara Borho, four sons, Augustus, John, Charles, Ernest and two daughters, Mrs. E. Keener and Mrs. John Schussler and several grandchildren. Notice of funeral later.

Charles F. Sherman, a well-known resident and farmer residing at Leeds, died Tuesday morning. His age was seventy-two. He was born in Leeds and resided there all his life in the ancestral home inherited from his father, Howard Sherman. Mr. Sherman has been ill for some time, and was the last member of his family. He leaves a widow, who is the daughter of the late John R. Brigget of Leeds.

John J. Meehan, husband of Ethel V. Meehan, nee Villiers, and son of Mary A. Moran and the late John P. Meehan, died in New York, Tuesday, December 8. The funeral will be held from the late residence, 650 St. Ann's avenue, New York city, Thursday at 9:30 a. m., thence to St. Peter's and St. Paul's Church, where a Mass of Requiem will be celebrated for the repose of his soul. The interment will be in Kingston.

Harriet Catherine, the oldest daughter of Mrs. Eva Peters Terwilliger of Saugerties, died at the Kingston City Hospital, Sunday morning, December 7, from an acute attack of appendicitis and peritonitis. The little girl was taken seriously ill Friday and immediately removed to the hospital where an operation was performed. The surgeons at once found the case a very serious one with complications, that offered no hope of recovery.

Christiana Only a Witness.

Lester Christiana, one of the boys in court Tuesday in connection with the skunk skin case, was present merely as a witness. He had been with the other boys but not at the time the skins were stolen.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

SEA SCOUTS FROM ENGLAND

"That the splendid work done by British sea scouts during the war period is appreciated by England is shown by the special arrangements which have been made for their benefit with the White Star line," writes James E. West, chief scout executive.

"Every White Star liner, whether making port in New York, Boston or Halifax, carries two or three British sea scouts who are shipped as 'cadets,' are regular members of the crew and are getting an unforgettable and fascinating experience of real seafaring.

"Some of these boys learn to love their good ship and the life of the sea so well that they continue in the service, sail the seven seas, make strange ports, and eventually become mates, officers or skippers."

In New York, Dr. J. J. Macdonald, an American scoutmaster, is always ready at the pier to greet these British boys, and to take charge of them as long as they remain on shore.

W. ARMSTRONG PERRY.

He Is to Head the Pioneer Scouts of the Big Brotherhood.

THE KING AND THE BOY SCOUTS.

On the day that King George gave his great garden party to those who had distinguished themselves in patriotic work during the war there were included only two organizations of young people. These were the boy scouts and the girl guides.

The king particularly asked that the boys and girls themselves should be present to the number of 150 as representatives of the rest. Picked, as they were, one from every county in the British isles, they naturally presented a very smart lot.

The king talked for quite a while in praise of the work of scoutmasters. Results were what he judged by, not the steps. Results are the only test, and the results reflected with greatest possible credit on the workers. He said that he had personal experience of this, because, on account of their capability, scouts had come now to be used for all large functions at the palace.

And he went on to say this of scouting: "The beauty of a scout is that you never have to tell him what to do, and you can rely on his doing it. A scout never makes a mistake. I have never known a scout to make a mistake."

SCOUTS LIKE WOOL CAMP DUDS

Bodily moisture can evaporate through woolens much more easily than through cotton or linen cloth, which keeps the moisture in its texture until it is thoroughly saturated. And it is the dampness next to the skin that causes colds and chills—so stick to woolens.

But, see that you wash 'em right!

You kill their betterness right off if you let little bits of soap get in between the fibers and thus clog up the channels through which the moisture is supposed to go.

A good way is to soak the garments in lukewarm suds, then squeeze out the water by pulling the woolens through the hands. And don't twist or wring, if you don't want to invite stretching or shrinking.

Just get out as much of the water as you possibly can and hang the "duds" up to dry.

WHAT THE SCOUTS DO.

At a victory celebration for the soldiers at Geneseo, N. Y., the boy scouts were asked to take care of two airplanes and guard them through the long night.

Some happy scouts are those of Los Angeles Troops 1 and 2. A short time ago they went over to Hollywood and were the guests of Mary Pickford, the movie star, who not only gave them a royal reception, but also presented them with $25 for troop equipment.

BOSTON TECH SEEKS $8,000,000

THE BOSTON TECH'S SERVICE TO INDUSTRY

Campaign for $8,000,000 Based on Close Co-operation With Industry — Corporations Sign Contracts.

War developments have put a premium on the kind of education for which the Massachusetts Institute of Technology stands. The value of the technically trained man to industry is more clearly understood than ever before. Technology graduates have come to the fore everywhere and proved themselves indispensable to the winning of the war and the expansion of our national commerce.

The technical facilities at the Institute also have a big commercial value. In connection with its $8,000,000 Endowment Fund campaign Massachusetts Tech has therefore gone out into the open market and offered its services to industry. The American International Corporation heads the list of industrial concerns which have signed Tech's new contract. The Chile Copper Company, the Simplex Wire and Cable Company and the Todd Shipbuilding Company have also signed the contract. The yearly payment is in the nature of a retainer fee and varies with the size and needs of the corporation.

William C. Potter, one of the partners of the Guggenheim Bros., is chairman of the Industrial Committee which is putting the Technology project before the industries of the country. Mr. Potter is working on the theory that selling the Tech campaign to industry is a business proposition, profitable to both parties. The contract provides that the Institute shall receive a certain amount a year from the corporation in question in return for consultation privileges and the use of library and laboratory facilities. The whole faculty body, the largest group of high class technical experts ever brought together in one permanent consulting body, is thus put at the disposal of the contracting corporation.

How Germany Did It.

Germany built up the most effective system of applied science in industry that the world had ever known, because she had good technical schools. The German technical schools are supported almost entirely by state subsidy, and tuition fees are merely incidental. When Germany wanted to try something new in industry, she went to her schools, and the schools did not have to stop to consider whether they could afford to tackle the problem. America does not want Prussianized schools, but liberal endowment must be supplied in place of state subsidy if our technical schools are to be free for successful world competition.

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology, America's first technical school, which is conducting a campaign for an $8,000,000 endowment, was founded in 1865. The Tech laboratories of General Chemistry, Physics and Mining and Metallurgy were the first in the world for instruction to classes of considerable size. The Institute courses in Physics, Electrical Engineering and Aeronautical Engineering were the first in the country. Technology has the most thoroughly equipped and up-to-date plant in the United States.

Technology's graduates have taken a conspicuous part in the industrial development of the country. They have been active leaders in practically every American industry.

During the war 76 per cent. of the thousands of Tech men who entered the service became officers, a record which justifies the boast that Technology trains men for leadership.

The Institute is Popular.

The present Technology plant was built three years ago to take care of 2,000 students. Today the enrollment is 3,100. Fifty-five of the 100 scholarships given by the K. of C. to returned A. E. F. men were for work at Technology, the men having expressed that preference.

Boston Tech has twice as large a proportion of foreign students as any other American institution of collegiate rank. These men go home to positions of influence, where they will naturally promote friendly commercial relations with America.

What About the Technical Professor?

The war showed the country what technical professors were worth. They were invaluable at the front, in Chemical Warfare Service, in the industries behind the lines. American industry began bidding eagerly for their services, offering two and three times the salaries paid by schools and colleges. Most professors would prefer to teach, but cannot afford it under present conditions. If professors' salaries at M. I. T. do not go up, only inferior men will be left to train our future technical experts.

The "Mysterious Mr. Smith."

Who is "Mr. Smith?" There are thousands of Smiths in the city directories, but not many who can afford to give away $4,000,000. The "mysterious Mr. Smith," who kept Boston guessing some years ago when he gave the new plant on the Charles $7,000,000, has now promised Technology $4,000,000 more for an unrestricted endowment fund provided alumni and friends pledge $3,000,000 before January 1, 1920. Who is this man who refuses so sedulously to let his right hand know what his left is doing? He may be Henry Clay Frick, J. M. Longyear, John D. Rockefeller, Henry Ford, Bruce Dodson, George Eastman or one of the Guggenheim family, according to popular guesses. All that is certain is that he is not a Technology graduate nor a Massachusetts man.

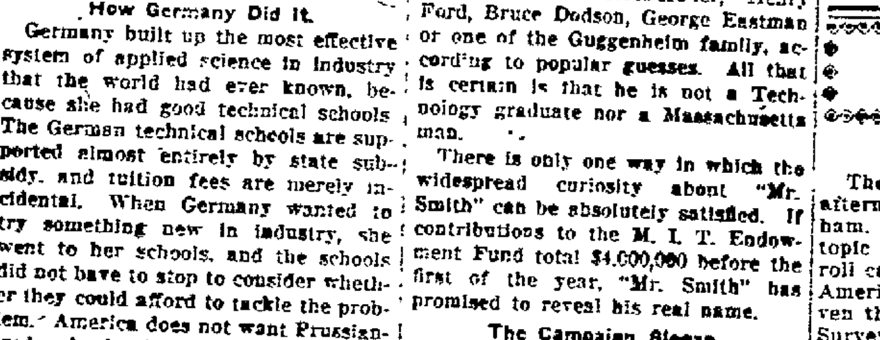
There is only one way in which the widespread curiosity about "Mr. Smith" can be absolutely satisfied. If contributions to the M. I. T. Endowment Fund total $4,000,000 before the first of the year, "Mr. Smith" has promised to reveal his real name.

The Campaign Slogan.

In view of the fact that Massachusetts Tech has only 500 graduates over fifty years of age and only a very few who can be classed as millionaires, the slogan of the campaign, "Give or get $1,000," is significant. Every Tech man is expected to give whatever he can, but those who cannot give much will be urged to get.

The Du Pont Offer.

Coleman du Pont, '84, chairman of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Endowment Fund Committee, has promised to double, dollar for dollar, everything that the Technology Club of New York raises for the Tech Endowment Fund up to $200,000.



Earle L. Ovington, Mrs. Ovington and their two children, Kester and Audrey, in their Curtiss plane, "Seagull."

Not Much Credit Coming to Them.

Jud Tunkins says he knows two men, and maybe three, who bragged about not bein' profiteers, simply because they never had a good chance.

Some Kickers.

"Some men pride themselves on being great kickers," remarked the Observer of Events and Things, "and they never will concede that the mules are their superiors."

SOCIETY NOTES.

Lowell Club.

The Lowell Club met on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Brigham. "American Humor" was the topic up for consideration and the roll call consisted of "Examples of American Humor." Mrs. Van Leuven then gave an excellent "Short Survey of American Humor," after which Mrs. Wesley D. Hale had the paper for the day, "Mark Twain," being her subject. This highly interesting and entertaining paper was followed by readings from Mark Twain given by Mrs. Herbert Carl. The club voted, as usual, to make its customary Christmas contribution to the Industrial Home and the Tuberculosis Hospital. Next Tuesday the club will meet with Miss Baker.

ODDS AND ENDS.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church will be held at the church parlors Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Court Santa Maria, Daughters of Isabella, will hold their regular monthly business meeting Thursday evening at the Knights of Columbus Hall. As the election of officers is to be held every member is expected to be present. There will be a rehearsal of the music held after the meeting for all members to practice for the Christmas carols and complete arrangements for the Christmas entertainment. It is requested that all sisters having contributions for the cigar and flower booths for the K. of C. ball will make their returns at this meeting.

Mayor at Hempstead.

A mass meeting of the citizens of Hempstead will be held at their village hall tonight to consider the question of changing from a village to a city. Mayor Canfield will address the meeting and compare the various phases of city and village forms of government and the advantages of each form.

Notice is hereby given that a meeting of the stockholders of The Kerhonkson National Bank will be held at the Bank, in the village of Kerhonkson, N. Y., on the thirteenth day of January, 1920, at one o'clock p. m. for the purpose of electing directors for the ensuing year and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

Polls will remain open from one to two o'clock p. m.

FILE BRIEFS IN ROBERTS CASE

The suit of the L. B. Van Wagenen Company against J. Charles Roberts, was continued Tuesday in city court before Judge Schirick, and at the close of the case Judge Schirick reserved decision, both sides to submit briefs.

At the close of the plaintiff's case the defendant offered no evidence and Attorney A. C. Connelly, who appeared for Mr. Roberts, moved to dismiss the complaint on the grounds that the plaintiff had failed to show agency in the wife to bind defendant. The bill of goods on which the suit was based was $75.45.

D. G. Atkins, attorney for the Van Wagenen Company, in reply to Mr. Connelly's argument said that in the common law the husband is charged with the duty of supporting his wife and family. There was no evidence Mr. Atkins claimed to show that the defendant supplied his wife and son with necessaries. He did allow his wife $12 a week, and her testimony was to the effect that she used that sum to set the table, and after buying meat, groceries and provisions she had nothing left to buy clothing for herself and son.

Mr. Connelly contended that she had saved money from the allowance made her by her husband, and had $400 in the bank.

Mr. Atkins contended that the wife's evidence showed that the greater part of the savings was from taking boarders and what amount she had saved was immaterial.

Both attorneys cited authorities to support their contentions. As stated the court reserved decision.

FURTHER DELAY FOR HONOR TABLET

Word has been received by Mayor Canfield from The Gorham Company of New York city, who are making the bronze name plate for the Honor Roll Tablet that it cannot be completed until about February 1st next. The conditions in the bronze trade have been similar to that of the steel situation. As the name plate contains fifteen hundred names, representing the boys who went into the service from Kingston, it involves a great amount of work. The Kingston Industrial Workers Association have charge of the tablet and have been anxiously awaiting its completion to unveil it with proper ceremonies.

Albany Avenue Baptist Church.

A family prayer meeting with special program will be held on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The topic will be, "Religion in the Home." An open meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society for both men and women will be held in the church parlors Friday evening at 7:45 o'clock. The hostesses are Mrs. F. B. Matthews, Mrs. D. N. Mathews, Mrs. W. H. Brigham, Mrs. J. W. Matthews. The program will include devotions conducted by Mrs. George H. Clarke, an address by Secretary M. S. Safford of the Y. M. C. A. and other features. Next Sunday is Go-to-Church Sunday at the Baptist church. All are invited to be present at all services. Miss Stella Eelyen, of Kinhwa, China, will speak in the morning.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, Dec. 10.—Marcus Ostrander, who spent a few months with his brother at Phoenicia, has returned to his home with his daughter, Mrs. Nelson Bovee, on Riverside avenue. The many friends of Mr. Ostrander are glad to have him return to our village, as he is one of the "old reliables" and there are mighty few now adays. We are glad to see him hale and hearty.

Esopus Council, No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, will meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock in their rooms in Spinneweber's Hall on Broadway.

This evening is church night at the evangelistic service in the Methodist church. All members of the church are requested by Evangelist LeRoy Muir to march in a body. Everybody welcome. Song leader, R. E. Kauffman, will sing.

All the young boys in this village are invited to the Methodist church Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock to hear R. E. Kauffman, who will speak especially to the boys in this village and vicinity. It is hoped every parent interested in the Christian welfare of their boys, will urge them to be present at this meeting.

The afternoon Bible studies held in the chapel of the Methodist church every afternoon from 2:30 to 3:30 are very interesting and instructive. The Rev. Harry Rundell, the teacher, is anxious to meet you all there and wishes you to please bring your Bibles for references.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kline and family, who have lived in this village for some time, are making preparations to move to New York city soon.

The devotional meetings held at the different homes from 10 to 10:30 are well attended and very helpful.

Evangelist Muir is drawing great crowds at the Methodist church He is a forceful and convincing speaker and captivates his audience at each service. Delegations come from Kingston, South Rondout, Eddyville, Esopus and St. Remy. The meeting Sunday night will long be remembered as the greatest ever held in Port Ewen as most of the audience moved forward signifying that they desired to live a better life. Mr. Kauffman, the chorus leader, is pleased with the choir, which he is ably directing. He is indeed a very great leader and director of song, and his solos are of the highest order. Mr. Rundell, the efficient Bible teacher and leader of the inquiry room, is also a very great help and inspiration. Tuesday night was men's night. The address was principally to men. Mr. Muir was at his best, preaching from Heb. 2-3, "How Shall I Escape if I Neglect so Great a Salvation." The following are extracts from Evangelist T. LeRoy Muir's sermon of Tuesday night: "There was never a thing done on the dance hall floor for the upbuilding of character. You don't have to dance to be lost and eternally damned, either. Your old town dances are from the devil from start to finish. God never meant for you to be a smoke stack either. Your body is the temple of the living God. Neglect to accept Christ is the thing that damns you. What must I do to be saved?" Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ and be saved." What must I do to be lost? Nothing? Just put it off. Christ will change your life from sin and wickedness to joy and happiness. Only "Believe and thou shalt be saved." It's either heaven or hell for you. Will you answer God's call tonight?"

The annual meeting of the Sunday school of the Reformed church will be held Wednesday at 8 o'clock in the church. All officers and teachers as well as those interested in the success of the school, are earnestly requested to be present. Officers will be elected and other important business transacted.

The mid-week prayer service in the Reformed church on Thursday evening will be in charge of "The Gleaners" of the Sunday school. The subject is "The Love of God to us and How We May Show Our Love to Others." 1 John 3rd chapter. The Gleaners always have something good so come out and enjoy this evening of prayer and praise.

The annual meeting for the election of officers of the C. E. Society of the Reformed church will be held after the prayer service on Thursday evening. Let every C. E. member be present.

An Enviable Reputation Already Won

Hundreds of dealers who drove new Cleveland Sixes from the factory in Cleveland to their home cities have written the factory expressing their admiration and confidence in the car. What they all say is summed up in this sentence from one of them, "I can look any man in the face now and tell him the Cleveland is a regular automobile."

And that's what the Cleveland Six is—a regular automobile, an unusual automobile.

Hundreds of Cleveland Sixes, within the past four months, have undergone long, gruelling, cross country drives, with honor. They have passed over great hill drives and long mountain climbs, plowed through mud and washouts and desert sands where other cars stall and stop.

Its power and endurance have already won the Cleveland an enviable reputation. This is not surprising, for skill and sincerity are built into this car by men who have contributed their genius to the building up of one of America's finest quality cars.

Sticking It Out.

"There is little hope of wallpaper coming down," says a well-known suburban builder and decorator. "It's only because people will keep on sticking against the wall.—London Punch

STEILER GUILTY OF ASSAULT

ments to go to a photographer, and have a picture taken of the auto truck.

He said that he did not see what occurred in Robinson's store, although he saw Robinson call Steiler in the store. Later he saw Steiler come out and walk down the street, and that he saw Robinson come out after him.

When he saw Steiler coming he turned and began to crank his auto in readiness to start.

When he looked up he saw "Robinson and Steiler in a fighting position." He said he saw no blows struck but he rushed up and got between them.

He said he heard Robinson call Steiler names.

Tiffany Expected Fight.

Jay Tiffany, a clerk in McBride's drug store on Wall street, was the last witness called by Mr. Howard.

It developed that Tiffany was on his way home to lunch when he heard:

"You are a big crook."

"Not half as big as you are."

These statements were made several times, the first by Robinson and the retore by Steiler.

Mr. Tiffany said that when he reached the scene he saw Robinson push Steiler with his left hand while with his right hand he was blowing his nose.

He saw no blows struck.

His attention was called to the scene, he said, by the repetition of the two sentences quoted, and he evidently went to see a fight, but was disappointed for he saw no blows struck and saw Kreisig get in between Steiler and Robinson.

Eloquent Pleas Made.

That closed the evidence and Attorney Howard moved to dismiss the complaint on the ground of lack of evidence being presented to constitute the charge as made, which was denied.

Attorney Howard made an eloquent plea in behalf of Steiler. He called attention to the fact that the only evidence in the case was that Steiler had been interned for his own protection. He said the reason for Steiler's internment was due to the fact that many men would enter Steiler's restaurant and heckle him, trying to get him to make an admission in favor of Germany.

As far as the evidence was concerned regarding the alleged assault in the store the only two witnesses to it were Steiler and Robinson, and Steiler denied it.

Attorney Flanagan dwelt upon the fact of Steiler being interned during the war and still being under parole by the federal government. He must have been interned for more than self protection, said Mr. Flanagan, and the real reason was probably for the protection of the country and not the protection of Steiler.

Attorney Flanagan said that his own personal opinion was that Steiler was the most detested man in Kingston. He was the only person out of the city's twenty-five thousand residents who the government thought necessary to intern during the war.

Judge Schirick's Verdict.

Judge Schirick, at the close of the pleas, stated that he was sorry that the evidence regarding the late war had been admitted, and if either of the attorneys had moved to have it omitted at the time the evidence was taken he would have granted the motion. That evidence was now in, and it had to be considered.

Judge Schirick said that since the arrest of Steiler he had given the matter much thought as to whether he should preside at the trial or not. He had lost a brother in the world war and for that reason he was fearful at first that he would be prejuiced From the evidence as produced by both sides he wished that there had been a police officer on the scene at the time, and that he had arrested both Steiler and Robinson for breach of the peace, for they were both guilty. Steiler had been honest in stating to the court that he had struck Robinson with his open hand on the street, but denied hitting Robinson in the store. The court said that he found Steiler guilty of the assault as charged."

"In my effort to be fair and unprejudiced," said Judge Schirick, "I am going to lean over backwards, and instead of imposing the jail sentence, I am going to impose a fine of $25."

Judge Schirick also stated to Steiler that under the terms of the parole on which Steiler was at liberty from the interment camp he would forward the result of the trial and conviction to the federal authorities. What disposition the government would make he knew not and cared less.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE OPERA GLASSES.

"Hello, other end," said one end of the opera glasses.

"Hello, other end," answered the end that had been spoken to.

"I can make things look so far far away," said the end which had spoken first, which we will call Tiny View.

"I can make things look so very near," said the other end, which we will call Big View.

"I can make things look so funny and small," said Tiny View.

"But I can make things look so near and so large," said Big View.

"I like my part better," said Tiny View. "It is more interesting not to be able to see things so near They look more mysterious at a distance."

"I don't know that I agree with you," said Big View.

"Why not?" asked Tiny View.

"You would hardly expect me to, would you?" asked Big View.

"I don't see why," said Tiny View.

"You wouldn't want to be in my place, would you?" asked Big View

"Oh, no, certainly not," said Tiny View.

"Well, there you have it," said Big View.

"Have what?" asked Tiny View.

"You like your way because it is your way and because you are used to it," said Big View, "and I like my way because I am used to it. That's the way we are."

"I see," said Tiny View.

"What fun I do have at the theater or at the opera," said Big View.

"I have a good time, too," said Tiny View, "for children like to look through me and they like to say, 'Oh, how funny the stage looks, and the people look so small, and everything looks so far, far away.' It gives them a quite different idea of the stage and the people acting."

"Of course it does," said Big View. "Well, I like the work I have to do. I like to make things seem near at hand, to make them stand out clear and plain."

"But when things are far away, isn't it wrong to make them look near?"

"Children Like to Look."

asked Tiny View. "Isn't that the least bit deceitful?"

"Of course not," said Big View angrily.

"Oh, I didn't mean to annoy you," said Tiny View. "I was only asking a question."

"It is no more deceitful than for you to make them see things far away."

"I suppose that is so," said Tiny View. "I hadn't thought about it that way before."

"You hadn't looked into the matter closely enough," laughed Big View.

"Well," said Tiny View, "we're each rather clever in our own way. You can make things near which aren't and I can make things look far away which aren't so far off at all."

"We're not clever," said Big View.

"Who is clever then, if we aren't?" asked Tiny View.

"The one who made us," said Big View.

"Well, the one who made us must have seen that we were going to do our work properly and were the sort of things he could employ."

"To be sure," agreed Big View. "That is what we do, and what we must always do—our work—properly."

"We do have such a good time," said Tiny View.

"That's why we should do our work well," said Big View. "We should show that we are grateful."

"We'll always be friends, won't we?" asked Tiny View.

"Of course we will," said Big View.

"I remember seeing a beautiful dance once," said Tiny View, "and all the little tiny creatures dancing were so lovely."

"I remember that lovely dance," said Big View, "but all the creatures I saw were quite, quite large."

"Ha, ha," said Tiny View, "we were looking at it from different ends, for we are different, aren't we?"

"To be sure," said Big View, "but we're both lucky, for we're taken to theaters and operas and we see the great singers and dancers and actors and actresses and give folks great treats—as they can look at things in the most interesting ways with the aid of their own perfectly good eyes! And also by moving us to focus us just right."

Anxious.

Waiter—All right, sir, all right. You'll get served in time.

Diner—Well, rush it. I want to get through this meal before the prices rise again.

BIG GOOD ROAD BOND ISSUE

Dallas County, Texas, Votes $6,500,000 for Construction of Complete Belt Line.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The largest bond issue ever submitted in any county in Texas and one of the largest voted anywhere in the country was ratified by a big majority recently in Dallas county, Texas. It provides $6,500,000 for a complete belt line around the county, with 12 roads radiating from Dallas to all sections and six intermediate roads connecting the radial highways. The system provides for 382 miles of road, and in addition feeder roads amounting to about one hundred miles will be improved by the decrease in maintenance expenses. Federal aid amounting to $250,000 had been allotted to Dallas county for its highway development, and it is expected that a large number of motortrucks will be assigned to assist in the construction work. The favorable reception of the big bond issue in this county is expected by officials of the bureau of public roads, United States department of agriculture, to have a favorable effect on similar proposals elsewhere. Road building in Texas is at high tide. State highway engineers estimate that more than $20,000,000 worth of roads are now under construction.

WIND HELPS ROAD BUILDERS

When Used in Construction of Highways in New Mexico Experiment Is Successful.

A new method of using the wind in sand-road construction has proved so successful, that, after making a nine-mile experimental stretch in New Mexico, roadmakers in that state have built 80 miles of similar highways. First of all, the grass and weeds are cleared from the right of way, and then a trench is made through the sand to the clay bottom. The loose sand is deposited in stacks ten feet from either side of the cut, and the rest of the work is left to the desert winds. During the spring and fall, the winds sweep away all the sand and widen the clay strip. Then the road is graded and the work finished.

COUNTRY NEEDS MORE ROADS

Improved Highways Influence Every Branch of Economic and Financial Structure.

There is no doubt about it, the country needs more good roads. It has become an economic necessity that our roads be improved because good roads influence every branch and twig of the social, economic and financial structure of the nation.

Good roads decrease the cost of living—bad roads increase it. Good roads save labor—poor roads spend it. A community with good roads has an unlimited trade area, while a community with poor roads has limited trade area.

IGNORANCE PARTNER OF MUD

Motorists Complain That Farmers in Bad Roads Districts Know Nothing About Roads.

As a rule, ignorance accompanies mud. Many motorists in bad roads districts, stopping to ask a farmer information about roads not ten miles away, have found that the farmer had never traveled so far way and could give no directions.

Up to People Interested.

The success of state and national aid to road construction and road improvement will depend upon the interest the people take.

Earth Road Is Foundation.

The earth road is the foundation upon which all other surfaces are placed, and upon which we should depend for the load-carrying capacity.
